Boy's Gin Sale Charge Jails Liquor Dealer

LOUIS GREEN OF H. B. TO BE TRIED

Arrest Made Following
Questioning of Lad
Who Bought Pint

When a 16-year-old boy lay in an alcoholic stupor in a ditch alongside a county road Saturday, he was drunk with a 40-cent pint of gin purchased at Green's liquor store in Huntington Beach, state officers charged today.

And Louis C. Green, 54, proprietor of the store at 206 Ocean avenue, Huntington Beach, today was in the county jail under $500 bail pending trial on two counts of selling liquor to minors.

Boy Awaits Trial
He was arrested yesterday afternoon by H. E. McKenzie of the state board of equalization and R. E. Steinberger of the sheriff's office, following questioning of the 16-year-old boy, who is now awaiting trial in juvenile court on drunk charges. The boy's name is being withheld by The Journal because of his youth.

The boy assertedly told the officers he had bought liquor from the Green establishment on two occasions; and Green was charged with two counts of the violation as a result.

Denies Guilt
He will be tried Nov. 5 before Justice of the Peace Chris P. Pann at the beach city. Arraigned yesterday, he pleaded not guilty and was remanded to jail when he was unable to post bond.

Mckenzie said decision on calling a license revocation hearing will await outcome of the criminal charges. His office last month announced a drive on liquor establishments which sell to minors, and a week ago closed one establishment for a similar offense.

DERRICK FALL PERILS CREW

Eight men missed certain death by a matter of minutes at Huntington Beach last night, when a steel oil derrick owned by the Union Oil Company collapsed. It nearly trapped four workmen on the job, while four others were changing their clothing in a bathroom on the rig.

The derrick collapsed and crashed to the ground a few minutes before midnight. A few minutes later all eight men might have been on the derrick floor changing shifts, and in that case all would have faced almost certain death, observers reported. Union Oil Company No. 14, where the accident occurred on the a crew in charge of Jack Templeton was using a truck hoist to fish for tubing in the hole. Without warning the derrick tumbled to the ground, with the four-man crew barely escaping the flying steel. Among those in the crew were W. M. Cox, Charles Lightfoot and another worker whose name was not learned.

Damage was estimated at $8000.

Merna Divorces Busby Berkeley

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Merna Kennedy, screen actress, was granted a divorce today in superior court after she testified that her husband, Busby Berkeley, screen dance director, cared more for his work than he did for his home. Miss Kennedy separated from the director June 26, 1935.

Nine Win, But Millions Lose

NEW YORK, (AP)—Nine Americans won top prizes of $150,000 each from the 19th Irish Hospital Sweepstakes draw today when Dan Bulger, the prime favorite, won the Cambridgeshire.

The lucky ticketholders: "Crane," Quincy, Mass.; "North," Northend, O.; "West," Philadelphia; James Short, Portage, Penn.; Margaret Cunner, Brooklyn; Hooker, West Durham, N. C.; Ten Girls, Edgewater, N. J.; Nickson Company, San Francisco; William Schreiber, Syracuse, N. Y.

Wally Is Not First Of King's Loves

(Editor's Note: Scented love letters have poured into Edward VIII's quarters ever since he was a youth. His secretaries show him only a few—the funniest ones. That is not saying, however, that he has remained aloof from women. His current friendship with Mrs. Wallis Simpson is the strongest of all. In the following article, the last of three, DeWitt Mackenzie contrasts the monarch's attitude toward the former Baltimore belle and his previous women friends.)

New Elizabeth

Although America is stirred about the chances of Mrs. Wallis Simpson becoming a queen, old England has its heart set on a second Queen Elizabeth. The 10-year-old daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York would become Crown Princess should King Edward abdicate to marry.

ALF PLEDGES LABOR AID

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon said today that labor's right to organize and bargain collectively "needs to be emphasized and applied" and pledged, if elected, enforcement of "federal laws for the protection of workers."

"For many years I have believed in the necessity for organization as a means of advancing the fortunes of the individual worker, raising his standard of living and giving him the position in the world to which he is entitled," the Republican presidential nominee told a New Jersey audience.

He spoke in the Mosque theater during a four-hour pause of his campaign special bound for New York City and the windup of his eastern campaign for electoral votes.

The Kansas said the supreme court recognizes "the right of organized labor through peaceful methods to extend organization to labor that is unorganized" and "the right to peaceful picketing."

"It is an old story," he continued, "that labor has the right to organize and bargain collectively through representatives of its own choosing without interference by employers."

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

NEW YORK, (AP)—America's Mrs. Wallis Simpson, whose friendship with King Edward VIII has the world feverishly excited, does not represent his first romance, by a long stretch of imagination. There have been others of considerable duration, and there have been many passing flirtations.

Never before, however, has there been such talk of marriage. British society and officialdom, which have watched the progress of this friendship for a long time, admit privately to being worried. They fear the prestige of the throne might be harmed irreparably were Edward to make a divorcee his queen.

Newspapers Silent
The general public there knows little or nothing about the affair. The English newspapers have been discreetly silent.

The fascinating Baltimore woman seems to have cast an extraordinary spell over the bachelor monarch. The grand passion appears to have hit him at last at the age of 42, and it is a woman of 40 who has inspired it.

The former Maryland society belle is said to possess those qualities which in past history have

SIX MONTHS OF WAITING

LONDON, (AP)—Wallis Warfield Simpson, now twice a divorcee, forsook the haunts of Mayfair today.

In contrast to the heavy force of guards which snapped to attention when the king's friend came home from the Ipswich divorce case last night, a lone bobby pounded the beat in front of No. 16 Cumberland Terrace.

Mrs. Simpson's activities now will be most guarded. Under the terms of her decree nisi from Ernest Aldrich Simpson, she is responsible to the court and the king's proctor for six months, or until the decree becomes final.

Must Be Chaperoned
The bobby on duty at the Regent's Park house watched moving vans disgorge loads of expensive furniture, presumably the last of the furnishings for Mrs. Simpson's new home.

And Mayfair wondered if, and when, Mrs. Simpson would marry the king.

For half a year, she must act with the greatest propriety to avoid the strictures of one of her sovereign friend's own officials—the king's proctor. Technically, at least, she would have to be extremely careful that a chaperone is present even when she is with King Edward himself.

Law Is Explicit
Moreover, any chance meeting with her now ex-husband, Ernest Aldrich Simpson, at a restaurant or one of the Mayfair parties they both frequent might prove embarrassing.

The law explicitly lays down that any resumption of close relations between husband and wife would be sufficient grounds to justify the judge in refusing to make the decree absolute.

Otherwise, if the king's proctor gives the nod, Mrs. Simpson will be unqualifiedly free on April 27, 1937—just 15 days before the scheduled coronation of bachelor King Edward.

Mollison Off On Atlantic Flight

NEW YORK, (AP)—Capt. James A. Mollison, en route to London in a one-stop flight from New York, landed at Harbor Grace, N. F., at 3:25 p. m. today, the Floyd Bennett airport was advised. The flying time of the transatlantic aviator, who had crossed the ocean three times east to west, was 6 hours, 41 minutes, or more than an hour in excess of the time he had counted on—five and a half hours.

U. S. Mediator Pleads
For Time; Tieup on West Coast Looms

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Last-minute pleas to workers and ship owners were made today by Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady in a desperate attempt to prevent a coastwide tieup of shipping at midnight. "Both sides are forgetting the public," McGrady declared. "You should continue to negotiate."

There was a bare possibility that a walkout of 37,000 maritime workers might be averted if the sailors' union and steamship operators reached an agreement. Shipowners Stand Pat

The coast shipowners' committee stood pat on its attitude that agreements had been violated by the tying up of about eight ships along the coast, and negotiations could not go on until they were released.

T. G. Plant, chairman of the committee, pointed out that no progress has been made on fundamental issues after 60 days' negotiations and that the maritime commission should be permitted to complete its investigation and make recommendations, while the truce continues indefinitely.

Traffic Drops
Meanwhile the heavy seagoing traffic of 50 ships in and out of the port here dropped quickly in expectation of the tieup. Chief Wharfinger John Sullivan reported 16 ships were at docks, 11 having arrived last night.

The movement of canned goods and fresh fruits is at its peak, heavy cargoes being destined for the East coast and European ports.

The negotiations committee of the sailors' union of the Pacific and the coast committee of shipowners were to meet, but a stumbling block to any progress was the union's demand for an entirely new agreement, the principal demands being cash for overtime and wage raises.

Guests Flee as Hotel Burns

PITTSBURGH, (AP)—Twenty roomers in the Alpine hotel were partially overcome by smoke, and 20 others fled to the building's scantily-clad in a spectacular fire early today. Many were women and children.

The flames were brought under control by the fire department, with damage estimated around $7000.

Miss Liberty, French Gift to U.S., 50 Years Old Today

NEW YORK, (AP)—The new world's first lady, Miss Liberty, is 50 years old today.

President Roosevelt headed a pilgrimage of citizens to the statue of "Liberty enlightening the world" in New York harbor. There, on Bedloe's Island, with Liberty's torch 300 feet overhead, were conducted ceremonies paralleling those of Oct. 28, 1886, when President Cleveland dedicated the statue.

In attendance was Ambassador Andre Lefevre de Laboulaye of France, grandson of Edouard de Laboulaye, the eminent French historian who originated the idea of the statue in celebration of the hundredth anniversary of the United States' independence, July 4, 1876.

Rebel Outposts Now But 10 Miles From Capital

New 'Stick' Will Measure Johnny

There'll be a new yardstick this year to measure Johnny's achievement and progress in Julia C. Lathrop Junior High school. Parents who have been dissatisfied in the past with mere reports of "satisfactory" or "unsatisfactory" will receive in about three weeks a four-page printed report which will outline in detail the students' standing, ability, attitude, and reactions.

Principal H. G. Nelson revealed the new system last night after Charles Pritchard, banker, one of four fathers speaking on a symposium program at the Lathrop P. T. A. fathers' night program, voiced objections to the present brief reports.

Demands Reports
"We are planning ahead for the children," Pritchard said. "When we get a report that merely says the child is doing satisfactory work, it doesn't tell us enough. We want to know whether he is doing A work, B work, or C work," Pritchard objected.

Each teacher of a class which meets at least four periods a week will make out one of the reports for each of her pupils, so that students will bring home reports from each of their major classes.

The student will be classed as "needs improving," "satisfactory," or "honors," in each of the following classifications: achievement of objectives, achievement in terms of pupil ability, ability in learning procedures, work habits, ability in written expression, ability in oral expression, reaction in social relationships, responsibility and care in personal appearance.

Under each of the divisions the student will be evaluated as plus or minus in subdivisions such as reading rate, collecting and organizing ideas, desire to learn, self-confidence, spelling, punctuation, acceptance of responsibility, leadership, good manners, attendance, influence for best interests of school and student body, neatness, and posture.

All together there are 72 classifications to be scored, covering nearly every phase of the student's work, attitude, achievement and interests.

WARRANTS OUT FOR HOEPELS

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Bench warrants for the arrest of Representative John H. Hoepfel of California and his son, Charles, were issued today by Justice Peyton Gordon of the federal district court.

Justice Gordon acted when the Hoepfels failed to present themselves in court for commitment to prison on charges of conspiring to sell a West Point appointment for $1000. They were convicted last December and sentenced to terms of from four months to a year.

Milton Cronheim, their bondsman, said Hoepfel was in Arcadia, Calif., and was arranging his affairs to come to the capital by Nov. 2.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison today, Sparks pleaded not guilty, waived preliminary hearing, and was held to answer to superior court Friday. Bail was set at $2500.

Still Seek Jury For Bookie Case

Defense and prosecution attorneys today carried their battle over the selection of a jury to sit on the trial of five Balboa men charged with bookmaking into its second day, as a special venire of 35 men and women was subpoenaed by Constable Jess Elliott.

Indications were that selection of the 12 jurymen would be delayed at least until tomorrow. More than 20 challenges remained with the defense as court recessed at noon. Fifteen jurors had already been excused.

The five men on trial are Alex Anderson, Walter Hite, John Calahan, E. L. Bassett and H. B. Wilson. The offenses are alleged to have occurred Aug. 20.

MADRID STILL ORGANIZING DEFENSE

Insurgents Lay Plans
For Jubilant Entry;
Final Thrust Near

By the Associated Press
The Spanish Fascists showed their outposts today within 10 miles of Madrid—almost within range of their heaviest artillery.

While the capital struggled to organize for its defense against a rising tide of confusion and dissension within and an encroaching wave of Fascists on its outskirts, the insurgent command jubilantly drew plans for a triumphant entry.

Fascist leaders, having taken five new villages and having advanced their vanguard to a point 16 miles south of beleaguered Madrid, announced they were ready for the final thrust.

Government officials, meanwhile, ordered mobilization of all able-bodied Spaniards between the ages of 20 and 45 to bolster the yielding lines of raw recruits hurled against the manpower and armaments of the Fascists.

They combated the difficult problem of a roaming army of war refugees in the city, tattered, cold, hungry and penniless, who added thousands of mouths to be fed from the city's dwindling supplies.

Fearful the impoverished wanderers might start looting and food riots, menacing the city's organization at a crucial moment, the cabinet ordered them billeted. The insurgents hoped they could (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

HARRISON HEADS INSURANCE MEN

Harold P. Harrison of Santa Ana today headed Orange county insurance agents, succeeding John Henderson of Santa Ana as president of the Orange County Insurance Exchange.

Harrison and other new officers were elected Monday night at the exchange's annual meeting here. Roy Peacock of Laguna Beach is vice president and C. E. Dessery of Santa Ana is secretary-treasurer.

Members of the new executive committee are M. E. Beebe, Anaheim; Frank Crooke, Fullerton; Lew Wallace, Newport Beach, and Clyde Newberry, Orange.

James Ingham, Pasadena, spoke on the business development program of the national association.

Henderson, as president, last week attended the state convention of insurance agents at San Jose. He made his report Monday night.

Water Committee Meets Nov. 23

Willis H. Warner, chairman of the Orange County Water district board of directors, today set Nov. 23 for the first meeting of a committee of more than 50 water interest representatives to study water problems of the county.

Each city, water company or district, and major land owners, are to be represented. Movement for the committee was started at a joint meeting of the Associated Chamber of Commerce and the Orange County Coast association.

SILVER ACRES PUMP HOUSE CAPTURED

Complaints Issued for Four After Battle
Over Water

An irate crowd of thirsty Silver Acres residents yesterday battered down a door, started a pump working, and today were getting water through their faucets in the latest development in the hectic Battle of the Pump-House.

And Mrs. Lucille Bates, who claims she has title to the water plant and exclusive right to furnish water to the West Fifth street subdivision, had sworn out battery complaints against four neighbors.

Argue Over Bills
Everybody was mad at everybody else.

Mrs. Bates, who has been in a controversy with neighbors for six months, shut off the pump Monday afternoon, claiming someone else—not entitled to collect—had been collecting water bills and paying for power used at the pump house. She said she'd keep the water shut off until the other residents came across.

The other residents, though, had different ideas. Thirsty after a 24-hour drought, they gathered yesterday, beat down the door, and started the pump.

Demands Complaints
Mrs. Bates, who tried to stop proceedings, claims the four defendants were rather rough in propelling her out the door. She demanded trespass complaints against the whole lot today, but District Attorney W. F. Menton said he had issued only the battery complaints.

Mrs. Bates, who says she has been thwarted with everything from lawsuits to assassination, called sheriff's officers yesterday afternoon.

"They're beating down the door!"

When the officers got there, they (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

F. D. R. WANTS HOUSING LAW

NEW YORK, (AP)—President Roosevelt declared himself today in favor of a new law by the next congress to help low-income families obtain improved homes.

In a short speech at Roosevelt park on New York's east side, the Chief Executive said "we have not yet begun adequately to spend money in order to help the families in the over-crowded sections of our cities to live as American citizens have a right to live."

"You and I," he said, "will not be content until city, state and federal governments join with private capital in helping every American family to live that way."

Earlier, in a busy round of travel in the vast metropolitan area, Mr. Roosevelt had spoken at the dedication of a PWA-financed gymnasium at Brooklyn college, and at the 50th anniversary of the statue of Liberty on Bedloe's Island, New York harbor.

Standing near the base of Bartholdi's famous goddess on the little island, he praised the nation's settlers for their love of freedom and said the present generation must carry forward their ideals.

What's Doing Tonight?

How often you hear this question, expressed differently perhaps, but with the same meaning! For the convenience of its thousands of readers, The Journal daily prints a calendar of events in Santa Ana "Tonight and Tomorrow." You can refer to this easily and quickly to find what is doing for the next 24 hours. It's a good idea to read this daily and keep tab on events of local interest. For today's calendar, see page 7 in The Journal—Santa Ana's fast growing newspaper.

OLD MYSTERY SOLVED FOR BOOSTERS

Constitution Missing Two Years Found by Harry Welch

A mystery which for two years has kept every chamber of commerce secretary in the county in agonizing suspense, and which at one time was responsible for a county-wide split in the chamber of commerce situation, was solved last night. But it was solved too late.

The mystery concerned the missing constitution and by-laws of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County. Several years ago, every chamber in the district was thrown into an uproar when officials discovered there was no constitution.

Hot Arguments For some time arguments about whereabouts of the missing document flew thick and fast. Meetings were almost disrupted when arguments concerning parliamentary law and chamber of commerce procedure brought heated words.

The Santa Ana chamber shunned association with the group for some time because of misunderstandings brought about partly by the absent set of rules.

Last night at a meeting of the Associated in Anaheim, Harry Welch, secretary of the Newport Harbor chamber, admitted publicly that he had been "cleaning house" in his office. From some dust-covered receptacle, yellowed by time, came the missing constitution. Welch said: "How the document came to be filed away with forgotten letters and chamber of commerce literature, Welch was unable to explain."

May Perturbed So now, the county group has two complete sets of by-laws and two constitutions. Either a feast or a famine, members were heard to remark. The only official who seemed much concerned over the belated discovery was Harry May, Fullerton, who is secretary for the county workers.

According to the old set of rules, the secretary received $5 per month as compensation for his services. In the new constitution, adopted last year, the secretary receives nothing.

Fish Destruction Assemblyman Ted Craig was speaker at last night's meeting, explaining constitutional amendments which will be on the Nov. 3 ballot. Craig presented members with copies of his booklet clarifying legal wording in the proposals, and explained their purposes. He was introduced by George Raymer, Santa Ana.

Leslie F. Kimmel, Laguna Beach, introduced John P. Cassidy, secretary of the California Fish and Game Development association, who told of proposed legislation to be brought before the assembly and senate in January, which will control alleged destruction of the state's sardine fishery by floating reduction plants, which operate, he said, outside the three-mile limit and are therefore not under state or federal control.

Candidates Presented George Reid, Anaheim, chamber of commerce secretary; Victor Loly, the president, and Herb Eldred, chairman of the Merchants' association, joined in welcoming the county group to Anaheim. Dr. C. G. Huston, Costa Mesa, was in charge of the session.

Introduced during the evening were Congressmen Sam L. Collins, Assemblyman James B. Utt, Supervisor LeRoy Lyon, Mrs. T. L. McFadden and Ross Crane, assistant county farm advisor. Charles L. R. Smith showed motion pictures of a flight over Pan-American Airways from Florida to South American countries and return via Mexico City.

Dr. Huston announced the next meeting will be held Dec. 8, as the November and December meetings are held jointly. Place for the meeting will be set by the executive board, he said.

WORTHWHILE CLUB Worthwhile club's meeting will be next week instead of tomorrow, as originally announced.

MORE ABOUT KING EDWARD

made and unnamed king. She is exceptionally clever in addition to being wholly attractive and charming—undoubtedly a striking personality.

Hard to Handle Edward is an individualist and a hard man to handle, as his advisers and aides could testify. But Mrs. Simpson has no difficulty where so many others have failed.

It takes a super-woman to make him wait patiently for an hour or more outside a hairdresser's for her. He probably never did such a thing for anybody else.

He used to put gray hairs into the heads of his staff by abruptly upsetting engagements they had made for him. I have known him to send word in advance to a large dinner party that he would stay just as long as he was amused, and no longer. Nobody ever made him step about as does Mrs. Simpson.

She has the reputation of being exceedingly popular in English society. There is only one point in dispute at all—whether it would be polite for the king-emperor to marry a woman twice divorced.

Want Unmarried Girl The fact she is American born does not enter into the proposition. The British public has let it be known that it would welcome an alliance with this country—but the people want their king to pick an unmarried girl.

Had Mrs. Simpson met Edward before she had been twice married, she perhaps would have been Queen of England by now. She may still be queen, if Edward feels it is wise to challenge public sentiment.

The king was introduced to her several years ago, and the fates decreed he should be presented by another American-born woman who also was his good friend—Lady Furness, the former Thelma Morgan and twin sister of Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt.

As Prince of Wales, Edward was frequently in the company of Lady Furness, and people speculated about romance there. Coincidentally, she obtained a divorce from Viscount Furness, just as Mrs. Simpson sued her husband this week.

Simpson Couldn't Go Soon after this first meeting the prince began to invite Mr. and Mrs. Simpson to affairs as his guests.

This went on for some time. When the king asked them to accompany him on his now famous yachting holiday in the Adriatic this summer, Simpson could not go, having a pressing business engagement on the continent. The wife went without her husband.

The Prince of Wales' first big love was Mrs. Dudley Ward, attractive daughter of a wealthy manufacturer. He met her while he was still in his teens, just before the war, and she was 5 years older than he.

He joined the colors in France, and she married a man 20 years her senior. When the war was over, Edward, making no secret of his admiration, met her frequently with friends. There seemed to be no question of their deep affection for each other.

And French Girl, Too She became his favorite dancing partner and companion. This continued until about 1930, when she started suit for divorce. From that time they ceased to be seen so much in each other's company, and a real love match came to an end.

Then there was, among others, a vivacious French girl whom Edward liked. He used to go to France often and saw her on those trips.

"David, the lady-killer" was the characterization once applied to Edward by his sister, Princess Mary. That was years ago, before he had ever heard of Mrs. Simpson.

The princess was referring jokingly to the innumerable newspaper photographs showing the prince (his family always called him David) in the company of beautiful women in various countries. But the ancient saw that many a true word is spoken in jest never was better exemplified.

Most Publicized The statistical chaps say Edward has been the most publicized man in history. Certainly nobody ever has come anywhere near challenging his position as the world's most sought-after bachelor. Great millionaires, screen stars and matinee idols have been also-rans.

Attractive women of many nations, including the United States, have been throwing themselves at him for years. It's a wonder he didn't lose his head in the face of all the feminine adoration. But he showed common sense; and he is a gentleman.

The king has been a paragon, compared to his august grandfather, Edward VII, who had the reputation of being one of the great lovers of all times.

Stories about Edward VII still enlivenable conversation in England's clubs. The ladies get a pleasurable shudder of disapproval as they gossip over the tea-table about his mixed parties aboard Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht.

Lipton and Edward were great pals, but the famous sportsman and tea-merchant was a thorn in the side for the austere Queen Victoria. She used to read the riot act to her son for his wanderings, and she hated the ground that Lipton stood on.

Ever since Edward VIII was a

INVITE L. A. PAXTON DEAL ARMISTICE DAY AID

Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion posts of Orange county today started action to obtain the cooperation of Los Angeles merchants in the Armistice day celebration here.

Announcing that Orange county merchants will close their establishments on that day in order to participate and allow their employees to take part, the veterans' organizations sought to induce Los Angeles from making a bid for Orange county customers on the holiday.

In past years Los Angeles stores not only have not closed, but have in some cases offered special inducements to Orange county shoppers.

Letters inviting the Downtown Business Men's association of Los Angeles and other groups were mailed today by the posts, which also contacted Los Angeles county veterans' organizations, asking their support.

MORE ABOUT WATER

reported they saw some 25 families standing in and near the pump while others were working on the pump. Mrs. Bates was running from hither to thither.

Refuse Arrests "We couldn't see any breach of the peace," reported Sheriff James Workman today. "The title to the pump house was in some doubt, and the crowd was orderly." We made no arrests.

Meanwhile Mrs. Bates started off for Huntington Beach, and demanded several kinds of complaints from Justice Chris Pann. He said today the complaints were not completed.

To Ask Injunction This morning the district attorney found her at his office as he came to work. After discussing the matter, he issued a writ of injunction against Howard Hoodman, C. L. Perry, Frank Scofield, W. W. Caldwell, and two or three John Does.

Ferry yesterday said he would attempt to obtain an injunction restraining Mrs. Bates from cutting off the water supply, as she did Sept. 2. This left the tract without water for a week.

But today Silver Acres was wet again. Some 30 families had water and were more or less happy.

mere youth, fascinated women and girls have followed him about in droves. Many times he has been the center of demonstrations of thousands of near-hysterical females who literally fought to get near him.

A typical example was seen in November, 1927, when 5,000 women waited outside a motion picture theater in London until "Prince Charming" came out. As he appeared the police couldn't hold back the frenzied hero-worshippers battling to get near enough to touch the prince.

Many women fainted before police reinforcements finally cleared a path for his royal highness to his car.

Lots of Mash Notes Mash notes from love-lorn girls all over the world have poured into Edward's headquarters daily. Frequently she of the palpitating heart sends her photograph in the hope that he may fall for a pretty face or figure.

A battery of male secretaries have handled these scented missives, and the king rarely has seen any of the notes. Occasionally some particularly choice bit may be handed on for his amusement. The letters go into capacious waste-baskets, and the great bulk is unanswered.

One eager and ambitious Texas girl wrote me in London and asked for the correct address of his royal highness so she could indite an epistle to him. I gave her the address, but she might have had better luck if she had directed her attentions to a mere newspaperman.

Queen's Attitude Questioned In special cases girls have sometimes received autographed photographs of Edward. One such rare picture went to Anna Novotna, a Prague shop-girl. She sent the prince a long love letter in Czech, and she wrote so charmingly her romantic letter got by the ordinary hard-boiled secretaries to his chief. The photo was her reward.

It will be interesting to see what attitude King Edward's mother, Queen Mary, adopts in the present situation. She always has been so opposed to divorcees that she never would allow one to be presented at court.

When Edward was young, however, the queen used to stand between him and his father's displeasure. She has been a loving and loyal mother, and perhaps now she will thrust aside her own feelings and lifelong principles to back up her son.

Archbishop "On Spot" It will also be interesting to see what the venerable Archbishop of Canterbury, head of the Church of England, will do if he is called on to marry Edward to a divorcee. The church does not forbid such marriages, but it does not like them.

The archbishop would be rather "on the spot."

As far as English law is concerned, there is nothing to prevent the king's marriage to Mrs. Simpson. It is entirely up to him to decide whether such a move might harm his throne.

He might go to the extreme of abdicating in order to marry her, in which case the Duke of York would become king.

SANTA MONICA SEEKS RIVALRY WITH DONS

Column Left

—By—
PAUL WRIGHT

FROM DAY TO NIGHT

This department, for one, would like to see Fullerton and Santa Ana Junior colleges go ahead with tentative plans to wage their annual "big game" at Fullerton Wednesday night, Oct. 25, instead of Thanksgiving day.

Not only would such an arrangement avoid conflict with the U. S. C. U. C. L. A. "natural" in the Coliseum, but it would give junior college athletes living out of town an opportunity to go home for Thanksgiving dinner. And the fans themselves would not be forced to rush through their turkey spread to see the kick-off at 2:15 p. m.

Nocturnal football is better than the day variety anyway.

MOTORCYCLE THRILLS

Sports lovers who thrive on thrills will have an opportunity to see Wal Phillips, famed member of the British racing team of London, in the International match motorcycle races at the Atlantic speedway championship, way in Los Angeles on Friday night.

Phillips, who rides in the Wimbledon National league, is en route to Australia. While in Los Angeles he'll mount his first visit, he'll race against such well-known riders as Bo Lismann, Miny Wain and Pete Coleman.

Lionel Van Praag, world's champion motorcyclist; Ron Johnson and Dick Case, British team members; and "Putt" Mossman, world's champion stunt rider; and Cordy Miller, the United States champion, also are on the program. Mossman, just home from a world tour, will ride a motorcycle over a moving automobile and do a rocket ride from the top of the grandstand into a tank of water at the finish.

Friday night will mark Phillips' second appearance in America. During his first visit, he cracked all United States' one-lap records.

ART COHN PROGRESSES

Art Cohn, the prolific writer who, as a columnist for the Press-Telegram, was ordered off Poly field by Coach G. A. (Tex) Oliver who disliked Art's burning criticism of the way a Coast league track meet was conducted here in '36, is doing right well on the Oakland Tribune.

The ardent lover of "pan mail" is the boss of a 12-man sports staff, pounds out a double column and a "lead" story on one of the Coast conference events most every day. He had an opportunity to go East for the St. Mary's-Fordham clash, but passed it up. Art plans to follow Stanford to New York for the Red's intersectional feud with Columbia Nov. 28.

Fred Perry Tells New York He's A Californian

NEW YORK. (AP)—Fred Perry, British holder of the American tennis player of the world, is going to become a Californian for a while.

Perry returned here from Hollywood recently and revealed he has bought a house there and will go West again in about a week. He also took time for another denial that he had signed a contract to play professional tennis.

"I haven't the remotest idea whether I shall play professional tennis or not," he said. "Any statements along that line could be only sheer speculation. I don't know myself what I shall do."

Bill Betteridge Annexes Midgits

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Fog cut short the Atlantic speedway's midgits auto program, but Bill Betteridge rolled out of the mist in time to win the curtailed main event last night.

No time was announced for the race since it was not run over a regulation distance. Johnny Keim finished second, Al Stein third and Dick Holmes fourth. The three-lap trophy dash was captured by Betteridge in 54.2 seconds.

Bout Looms Between Armstrong, Sarron

JOLSON NEGRO TRIMS MIKE BELLOISE

Associated Press Calls Featherweight Scrap a Draw at Olympic

By ROBERT MYERS

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Match-maker Joe Waterman of the Olympic auditorium started negotiations today, hoping to land a bout between Petey Sarron of Birmingham and Henry Armstrong of Los Angeles for the undisputed featherweight championship of the world.

Armstrong won a promised fight with the National Boxing association champion last night when he took a slim 10-round decision over Mike Belloise of New York.

While the Armstrong-Belloise bout was recognized by the boxing commissions of New York and California as a world title affair, the Los Angeles match-maker wants to sign Sarron with Armstrong to clear up the muddled 126-pound class.

With his owner, Actor Al Jolson, hawling with delight, the cinnamon-shaded negro won Referee Abe Roth's nod after a grueling but none too exciting fight in which the principals spent most of the evening chopping blows in close.

Armstrong's aggressive, constant swinging earned Roth's approval, but drew a sharp division of favor from the packed house of 10,400.

Standing in close, heads together—the ninth round was fought almost entirely in Belloise's corner. Armstrong, undoubtedly swung the most blows. Belloise caught most of them on his arms, elbows and shoulders. He swung less, but made them count more.

Aside from a slit eyelid, the New Yorker emerged unmarked. Armstrong was cut about both eyes, one an old wound, his eyebrows were puffed and he bled freely from the nose and mouth throughout most of the bout.

The Associated Press carded the bout a draw, with an edge, if any, to Belloise for more effective blows. Twice, notably in the eighth, he straightened Armstrong up and connected with a short right to the chin that made the negro wobble unsteadily.

Armstrong outpointed Baby Arizmendi, Los Angeles Mexican, another title claimant, here last summer. Belloise won the New York recognized crown in a tournament some time ago.

FORDHAM LINEMEN PRAISED

'Mightier Than N. D. Mules'

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK. (AP)—From no less an authority than "Sleepy Jim" Crowley comes the statement that the current Fordham line is mightier than the immortal "seven mules" of Notre Dame. And Crowley ought to know. He was in the "Four Horsemen" backfield for whose touchdown tactics the mules paved the way.

COLUMBUS, O.—Note to Notre Dame's publicity department, from Ohio State's ditto: The same trick won't work again. A year ago, Coach Elmer Layden of the Irish mourned that Notre Dame would be just a breather for State. The Buckeyes took it in, but lost in that thrill-packed last quarter. The N. D. publicity department wrote the Ohio State department this week that Saturday's game would be just a breather for the Bucks. But the Ohioans don't believe it any more.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—The major baseball leaguers could do worse than glance over the Arkansas backfield for possible pitching material. The Razorbacks have heaved 176 forward passes this year, completing 71 for an aggregate 994-yard gain, good for 11 of their 14 touchdowns.

PALEO ALTO, Calif.—Football men are raising eyebrows over the Stanford situation. They're wondering how a squad of 31 men, with only two weighing less than 170 pounds, can have failed to win a coast conference game so far this season.

While the Midwest appears to have fallen off considerably from its usual high place, and the South and Southwest, was indicated today in the first compilation of the season's intersectional warfare.

With the help of three inter-regional victories each by Pitt, Navy and West Virginia and two apiece by Temple, Fordham and Boston university, the Atlantic seaboard gridmen have posted 37 wins against 15 defeats and one tie in rivalry with Midwest, South, Southwest and Pacific Coast teams.

Of these 53 games—the Eastern total in the intersectional tilts from coast to coast this year—27 have been of major caliber, and, even in these important tests, the East is out in front with 17 wins.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific, the standings by section at the midseason mark line up as follows:

East 16, Mid-West 7.
East 16, South 7 (one tie).
East 4, Southwest 1.
East 1, Pacific Coast 0.
Southwest 3, South 1 (2 ties).
South 2, Mid-West 0.
Mid-West 1, Pacific Coast 1.
Rocky Mountain 1, Southwest 0.
With the season half over, and the East still giving as good or better than it's taking, it apparently is going to require considerable catching up for any section to make up the existing difference.

Although the East still has 40 intersectional battles before the season ends, it seems hardly likely that they will make any considerable change, despite the fact that 19 are with the Midwest and 17 with the South. The other four are divided evenly with the Southwest and Far West.

Fordham's victory last week over St. Mary's Gallopers in the only East-Far West competition has completed the "grand slam" lead for the Easterners in intersectional competition so far this season.

The South has taken its edge over the Midwest through the confronted the Bruins of U. C. L. A. today as the coaching staff aimed at stopping Stanford's feared overhead attack here Saturday.

Coach Bill Spaulding is mindful that the Bruins have been weaker against passing this year than a running offense—and hopes to correct the matter before the week-end engagement.

STANFORD WITHOUT GLENN HAMILTON

PALEO ALTO, (AP)—Glenn Hamilton, fullback who injured a leg in the Washington State game, watched Stanford's Indians drill for their clash with U. C. L. A. Saturday. Coach "Tiny" Thornhill said the pass-throwing ace will be unable to play although he can run with the aid of a knee brace.

SEATTLE. (AP)—The return of John Wiatrak, star center, to the University of Washington's first string line, buoyed Husky hopes today as the gridgers prepared for their Saturday clash with the University of Oregon at Portland.

Santa Clara Calls Off Scrimmages

SANTA CLARA. (AP)—With Bus McGee, big left tackle, on the sidelines with a pulled arm cartilage, Coach Lawrence ("Buck") Shaw decided today not to scrimmage his Santa Clara Broncos any more before the Auburn game Saturday. It's too dangerous, he said.

Pigskin Panorama of Nation's Leading Elevens This Week

Saints Must Stop Moors' Cameron

It was Bob Berryman of Long Beach who played havoc with Santa Ana's Saints, who will encounter another "Berryman" in Al Cameron of the Alhambra Moors at the Municipal bowl Saturday afternoon.

Cameron, 160-pound quarter-back brother of Rod Cameron, who formerly ran wild for Moor elevens, is the main reason why George Hobbs' Alhambra will carry a decided edge in their Coast league football conflict with the Saints. Another reason is the 14-7 upset Alhambra applied to the San Diego Hillers who outclassed Santa Ana, 19-6, three weeks ago.

"Boy to Watch!" Cameron has proved the spark of the Moors in every game, and according to Coach Reece Greene, Foote's trusted scout, "is the boy to watch here Saturday." Greene thought San Diego had more fire against Santa Ana than the Hillers did at Alhambra.

Cameron is said to gain nearly five yards every time he carries the ball. The Moors mix their plays well, calling on the 160-pound speedster to carry the mail when a substantial gain is needed.

Alhambra can be beaten, as evidenced by Long Beach Woodrow Wilson's 15-0 victory in the opener. But Wilson's Bruins rate second only to Long Beach Poly, the eleven they play for the Long Beach city championship at Stephens field Saturday.

Mitsuo Nitta Out? Coach Bill Foote sent his Saint second-stringers against Tustin Tillers in a mild scrimmage yesterday. There were no casualties.

It is doubtful whether Mitsuo Nitta, 150-pound Japanese bothered with a wrenched knee, will be ready to go against Alhambra. Coach Foote plans to keep Jim Johnson at left end. Larry Stump remains a regular at the right wing.

Santa Ana High's annual "big game" with Fullerton will be played at the Municipal bowl Thanksgiving day provided Santa Ana and Fullerton Junior colleges decide to play their game at Fullerton Thanksgiving eve.

EASTERN ELEVENS REGAIN NATIONAL GRID HEIGHTS

By SID FEEBER

NEW YORK. (AP)—A return of the East's football forces to national gridiron prestige, at the expense of the Midwest, South, and Southwest, was indicated today in the first compilation of the season's intersectional warfare.

Son Makes Good

It isn't often that a football coach has a son as one of his stars. But Bill Spaulding, son of Coach Spaulding of U. C. L. A., is making good in a big way as a half-back after injuries dogged him in his first year of football. SPORTS ROUNDUP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK. (AP)—After last year's game with Minnesota, Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern coach, said: "If I never see that Tuffy Thompson again it will be soon enough." . . . Just for that Bernie Bierman intends to turn Tuffy loose at Evanston Saturday. . . . How about Babe Herman for manager at Brooklyn? . . . The Reds are getting ready to sell the Babe up or down the river—they don't care which, just so they send him somewhere. . . . Scouts say another red hot signing war is brewing. . . . Bert Bell, coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, is quoted as saying Eastern collegers are not smart enough for pro football. . . . Ouch!

The people's cherce out in Pittsburgh is Marshall Goldberg, Pitt halfback. . . . Most burned up young man of the week was Slip Madigan when he found out Fordham had promised the Giants 25 per cent of the receipts for use of the Polo Grounds. . . . The Dodgers have signed a Russian infielder named Palachamin. . . . But he'll give the printers a break and call himself Nick Polly for box score purposes. . . . Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, and Bert Terry don't see eye to eye on whether Hank Leiber shall be traded. . . . What's become of Ali Baba?

Best looking young heavyweight right now is Gunnar Barlund, the Finn. . . . New York writers who swallowed the St. Mary's ballyhoo hook, line and sinker, now claim Slip Madigan put over a fast one. . . . One paper says the Gaels were just as over-rated as they were over dressed. . . .

Lots of talk on the Coast about Dick Weisgerger, fullback for little Willamette college at Salem, Ore. . . . Weisgerger, a 210-pounder, from East Orange, N. J., has converted 42 out of 53 attempted place-kicks in three years. . . . Record so far this season is 10 out of 13. . . . Lack of heft in his Temple backfield has forced Pop Warner to make variations in his famous football system.

Several weeks ago Cantonwine failed to appear for his scheduled three-fall match with the red-head firebrand, Pat O'Shocker. The Hangman claimed he had been injured in an automobile accident. O'Shocker took on two men, Baron Ginsberg and Bill Hanson, in a handicap match.

Pat beat the Baron in little more than 20 minutes, but failed to toss Hanson in the remaining 10 minutes.

If possible Sampson will sign O'Shocker to face the Hangman inasmuch as there still are rumors that Cantonwine took a runout powder rather than face O'Shocker that night three weeks ago.

Sampson also signed Tarzan Zim, the barefoot, longhaired wildman, for the coming card, and today was seeking Kiman Kudo as Tarzan's opponent.

Robert Stillwell, South Carolina griddier, spent the summer working in a mortuary. He wants to be a funeral director upon graduation.

Cantonwine Will Headline Mat Program Monday

Ordered to fulfill his Orange county wrestling contract before appearing in other Southland wrestling events, Howard (Hangman) Cantonwine today was signed by Promoter Sampson to headline Monday night's four-hour program at the 101 Highway arena.

V. R. Byrne, Santa Ana Packard dealer, is back from Chicago in what one might say a "speedy trip." Byrne left with W. W. Woods, Reo dealer, some 10 days ago by train for the East. On his arrival there he purchased one of the big Packards and drove back to Santa Ana. The entire round trip took only seven days, which speaks well for Byrne's endurance.

"You see," said Byrne, "it would have been next to impossible to have made this round trip in such time if the Packard had not ridden like a big rocking chair." Inquiries as to the expense of this type of car on long jaunts revealed a surprisingly low operating expense.

Bill Williamson is back from Detroit where he spent some time at the Graham Paige factory. Bill is now Graham dealer in Santa Ana and says he has many surprises in this new 1937 Graham. His headquarters are located at 111 South Main street. Bill says everyone who drives this car will find that he will go farther and faster on a gallon of gasoline than any other car in America. That's a mighty big statement, brother.

First prize for a freak injury from an automobile accident goes to Roland Trotter of Norwalk, Conn. He was on the second floor of his home when two cars collided in the street outside. A flying bolt from one of the cars crashed through a window, striking Trotter on the head. One of the two drivers was injured in the crash, but no more seriously than Trotter who is wondering if his cellar would make a safer living room.

WILL SPEED BUILDING OF HIGHWAYS

Federal aid road construction gifts to California totaling more than $20,000,000 for the next three years will greatly speed highway development in the state, according to an analysis of the congressional measures approved by the President this year.

Available to California for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1937, is an allotment of $4,721,712 for state road work, while approximately $1,000,000 will also be available for the same period for roads in national forests and parks within the state.

For each of the subsequent two fiscal years California will receive $4,756,959 for designated federal aid roads, and $950,000 for secondary or feeder roads. One of the requirements is that these two amounts must be matched by the state and there must also be no diversion of gasoline tax revenues from present purposes. Another allotment will be $1,870,000 for grade crossing elimination, with the proviso that the money shall be spent solely for structural purposes, the state to pay for surveys, engineering, and the like.

The 1938-39 biennium will bring California $1,334,000 for forest highways, $500,000 for forest development roads, and $300,000 for roads across unappropriated public lands. There will be other sums at present unapportioned, for roads within national parks and Indian reservations.

The total amount of federal aid money to be distributed to all the states annually for road purposes will be $238,000,000.

FORD USED CAR SALES BOOM

Close to a 50 per cent increase in the percentage of Ford sales financed through the Universal Credit Company in Southern California is reported by that exclusively Ford finance company for the first nine months of the year Trotter who is wondering if his cellar would make a safer living room.

To keep pace with the many values that the Ford dealer has to offer, it is quite natural that the volume of financed sales has increased.

There are only three more days for those interested in buying a used car at the Ford National October Clearance sale. Frank Bradock, manager in charge of used car sales for George Dunton, local dealer, is pleased over the fine response Santa Anans have given this nationwide value by the Ford dealers.

These values may be seen at either of the two used car lots, one at 115 South Main and the other at 805 North Main.

Bug in Eye Saves Trip to Dentist

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A bug flew into the eye of Jesse Hartzell and saved him a trip to the dentist, but cost him a trip to the hospital instead. He lost control of his car and struck a parked truck. The collision knocked out several of his front teeth, which his wife had been urging him for weeks to have extracted.

11 Years on Job

R. C. HARNESS

ANNIVERSARY FOR HARNESS

R. C. Harness, manager of the Santa Ana branch of the Western Auto Supply company, 202 North Main street, this month celebrates his eleventh year of service with this concern. Like many other Western Auto store managers, he has worked his way up from the bottom in an institution that believes the most valuable employee from the point of service to the public, is one who knows thoroughly every phase of the automobile accessory business, he says.

Harness entered the employ of the Western Auto Supply company in 1925 as a bookkeeper, being transferred soon afterwards to the sales department. For several years he held the position of assistant manager in the Glendale store, being transferred in January, 1934, to Los Angeles, as manager of the branch at Pico and Alvarado. He was then transferred to Santa Ana in December, 1934, as manager of this store.

According to Harness, his store has shown a steady increase in business which he attributes not alone to low prices on high quality merchandise, but to the fact that Santa Ana motorists like Western Auto's way of doing business. This same square-deal treatment, he says, extends also to all employees, which accounts for the fact that the average term of employment of Western Auto store managers is over 12 years.

In Harness' opinion, the fact that the company can pay higher than the average salaries, give vacations with pay, pay liberal bonuses, and still offer higher quality merchandise at money-saving prices, is positive proof that efficient management on the part of the Western Auto Supply company pays dividends to their customers in the form of greater savings and more efficient service from employees who are sold from top to bottom on their jobs and their employers.

"Bob," as he is called, is active in civic affairs, being a member of the Kiwanis club, chamber of commerce, and Business Men's association. He has also been active in Community Chest drives each year.

TAKEN FOR A RIDE

BUICK OFFERS FOUR MODEL SERIES

In providing the 1937 successor to the 1936 Buick, leader in percentage of sales gains, the Buick engineering and styling forces have produced four series of models that will further advance Buick's popularity. This is the enthusiastic impression at the Buick showrooms of Reid Motor company, following the formal presentation of the new cars last Saturday.

The immediate appeal of the new 1937 Buick with its increased performance, economy and striking style changes, is nation-wide, according to telegrams from the Buick factory which reports one of the biggest buying responses in the history of the General Motors unit.

Preparing for such a rush, increased factory production is gaining full momentum which means increase in frequency and size of shipments to Southern California. By Nov. 10, it is estimated, Buick will have produced as many new cars as at the corresponding period of last year when production began a month earlier. In addition production at the new Los Angeles plant of General Motors will be a factor in supplying this market. Meantime, deliveries are being made in rotation of purchases.

Offer 21 Models

Powered by two sizes of valve-in-head, straight-eight engines which incorporate the experience of 33 years and the manufacture of more than 3,000,000 motors of this type, Buick's models for 1937 are increased to 21 in 10 color options.

Buick's new styling accentuates the speedline motif while interior treatment features the modern trends and places new emphasis on comfort with deeper upholstery and the back cushions extending neck-high. The new, deep radiator which sets the tempo for the new flowing lines, changes the grille bars of last year from vertical to horizontal. These bars are carried high to the hood line which, in turn, are continued to the rear of the new Fisher bodies by chrome metal stripes. The new radiator effect, flanked by swooping fenders, is heightened by a color strip tapering downward through the center of the grille.

Sloping Full Backs

While the popular built-in trunk models are retained, new sedans are introduced with gracefully sloping full backs which conceal even larger luggage space than provided in the trunks of last year. The new unsteelt turret-top Fisher bodies of the Special and Century series are wider and longer, and while lowered in over-all height provide two and a half inches more head room.

One of the most striking contributions to new driving comfort is found in the adjustable front seat of the new bodies. Besides being adjustable four inches forward and backward, the back cushion changes its angle from its backward tilt to nearly vertical as it is moved forward. It also is raised in the forward position. This new feature not only gives perfect adjustments for varying leg reach but also permits the driver to change the sitting position on long drives.

More Fuel Economy

While Buick power and performance have been increased, the engineers have, at the same time, provided greater fuel economy.

Again Buick's characteristic construction features are found throughout the new models. Particular attention has been paid to endurance, safety, comfort and ease of operation. Among the engineering features are the sealed chassis, torque tube drive, automatic engine control, lightweight anodized alloy pistons, improved hydraulic brakes, synchro-mesh transmission, easy-acting clutches, sway stabilizers in both front and rear, double-acting shock absorbers all around, knee action, easier center point steering and Fisher "turret top" bodies of new roominess and luxury.

The surname of Apollo was Daphne for which a festival was named.

Dodge Bodies Unique for Silence

A unique body mounting method has been developed by Dodge and is featured on the latest chassis of this popular car. The bodies are set on rubber-insulated outriggers in such a manner that though the connection is rigid there is no metal-to-metal contact between chassis and body. The transmission of road noises, resulting in body drumming, is said to be forestalled by these unique body mountings.

The merged company will be known as the Nash-Kelvinator Corporation.

4-H CLUBS TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Achievements of the Year to Be Told Nov. 7 at Anaheim

Leaders of 4-H clubs in Orange county are preparing the annual achievement program which will be held at the Fremont school in Anaheim the evening of Nov. 7.

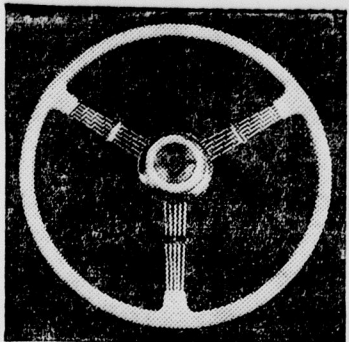

Achievement night is one of the outstanding 4-H events of the year for club members and parents. At this program, clubs and members are awarded charters, seals, certificates of achievement and prizes for the interest displayed during the year in club work and in the successful completion of the projects undertaken.

Glenn Waterhouse and Woodbridge Metcalf of the University of California extension service, who have just returned from Europe where they have made a study of youth movements and where they also represented the United States in the Olympics, are expected to take part in the program.

Assistant Farm Advisor Ross E. Crane reports various clubs working hard on stunts and demonstrations to be put on at this program.

THORN in the FLESH

By GLENN L. THORNE

Yesterday we put ballot proposition No. 3 under the microscope, then weighed it in the balance and found it wanting. Under No. 3, we found beer to be ruled non-intoxicating which would allow its sale to children. Also, if a drunk driver could prove he'd had nothing but beer, he would go free.

Do you remember several months ago when Raymond Caple, Journal newsboy, was hit by a drunk driver and suffered severe injuries including two broken legs? The driver proved he'd had "only" four or five glasses of beer, yet received a jail sentence. Under No. 3, "beer would be non-intoxicating." Hence, such "beer drunk" drivers would not be prosecuted.

Today let's look at No. 9, providing for local control. Opponents have claimed this to be a vote for prohibition. Let's see what it says.

"Every city, town, county, city and county, or territory outside of incorporated cities or towns, shall have the power to regulate, zone or prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages, within its limits."

Looks to me like it merely provides for local regulation, same as any local business, making officers responsible for local conditions. When liquor "messes" arise such as now exist, the finger of guilt can be placed quickly and accurately. There has been some excuse for the state board of equalization. They couldn't be everywhere in the state, investigating all cross-road taverns. They could honestly plead ignorance. But with local officers responsible for local conditions, they can have no excuse.

Under proposition No. 9, there will be no place to pass the buck. If a bad smell arises, voters can blame no one but themselves if it is not cleaned up. And fear of the ballot box should serve as a big stick in the hands of voters to control local controllers.

Looks like proposition No. 9, which simply allows the voters to rule instead of being ruled, is infinitely better than No. 3.

Townsend Clubs

Club No. 3 will give a Halloween party Oct. 29 at Townsend hall, 509 West Fourth street. All other clubs are cordially invited. Lunch will be served from 5 to 7:30 p. m. Guests may wear Halloween costumes. The Messenger orchestra will play.

Club No. 1 will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Roosevelt school.

Club No. 11 will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the Franklin school, 1512 West Fourth street. Members are urged to bring their sample ballots. A general discussion of amendments to be voted upon Nov. 3 will follow the regular order of business.

SERVES 75 DAYS

To serve a 75-day sentence on drunk driving charges, Sam A. Mitchell, 64, Los Angeles janitor, was booked at the county jail last night by Brea police.

HEAD OF ALPHA BETA RETURNS

Hugh Gerrard, general manager of the Alpha Beta Food markets, recently returned from Chicago, where he attended the annual convention of the food and grocery chain stores of America.

Gerrard was especially impressed by the long strides made to avoid waste of farm products by marketing direct from the farm associations to the chain stores. He said all indications are that food waste can be entirely eliminated in this manner, as the chain stores distribute surpluses that, unless moved, would demoralize the market and bring prices down.

Representatives of many growers associations, among which were citrus, dried fruit, peach and beef producers, attended the convention to thank the chain stores for co-operation given to them during the year.

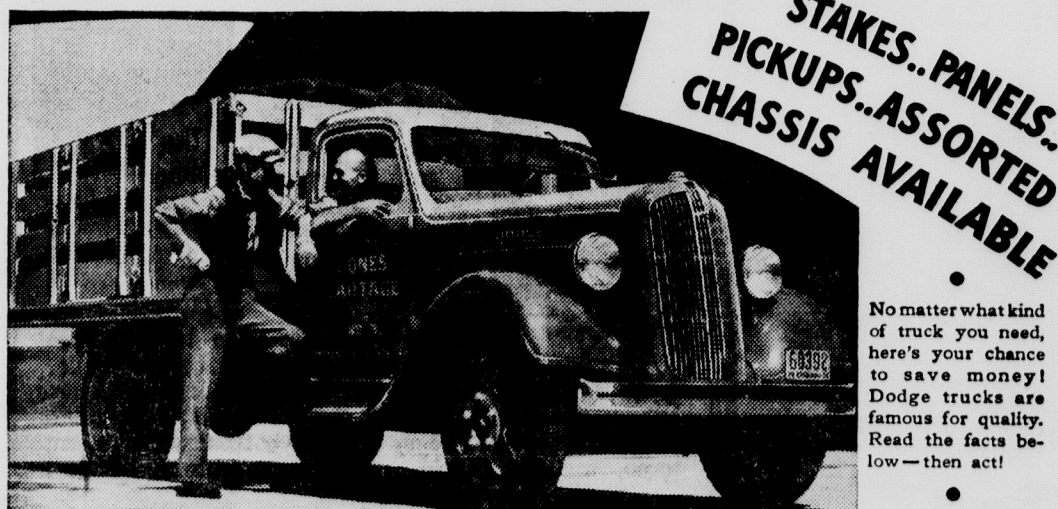

Gerrard mentioned that it has been the policy of the Alpha Beta, ever since it became an organization, to assist growers associations to dispose of any surpluses they may have.

A California Success THAT GREW OUT OF A FIVE DOLLAR BILL -let's not cripple it with unfair taxation!

George Pepperdine, President and Founder of the Western Auto Supply Company.

Hal R. Baker, first employee, who rose from errand boy to Vice-President and General Manager.

S. G. Miles. In 15 years he has worked his way up to Secretary and Treasurer of the Company.

Typical Western Auto Supply Co. store. 115 of these stores in California bring savings and helpful service to your neighborhood.

Interior of typical Western Auto Supply Company store, showing merchandise conveniently arranged for your inspection.

Los Angeles main store and warehouse. Conveniently located warehouses speed distribution and help keep prices lower.

Oakland main store and warehouse—improves our service to Northern California motorists.

PROPOSITION #22 aims to do just that, because it will tax the Western Auto Supply Company stores more than $50,000.00 a year, while the service stations of chain oil companies, which sell many auto accessories including tires and batteries, in direct competition with the Western Auto Supply Company, will not be taxed at all.

Why Cripple A Concern You Built With Your Purchases?

The Western Auto Supply Company started in California more than 20 years ago with one small store and a very small capital. It had no advantages that were not available to any other business. But, because it brought to motorists of California high quality merchandise at lower prices and a helpful service which they were not getting elsewhere, this one store was patronized to the point where it became necessary, for the convenience of the motoring public, to open more stores.

In order to help carry out this program of expansion, the Western Auto Supply Company incorporated under the laws of California, and almost all of its stock was sold and is now owned by Californians. Many of these stockholders are employees of the Company. These stockholders also ask: "Why place this discriminatory tax upon the Western Auto Supply Company, which already pays its share of local, state and federal taxes, and exempt the big oil companies and other chain organizations?"

The unfairness of Proposition #22 alone, we feel, is sufficient reason for fair-minded Californians to vote "no." But of the many other reasons that condemn this bill, there is one in particular upon which we want to throw the spotlight.

Let's Take A "Pocket-Book" View of Proposition #22

The Federal Trade Commission, in its final report on chain store investigation, came to this conclusion:

"To tax out of existence the advantages of chain stores over competitors is to tax out of existence the advantages which the consuming public have found in patronizing chain stores, with a consequent addition to the cost of living."

"If ability to undersell, based on greater efficiency—is destroyed by taxation, it is the consuming public which will really pay the tax."

Sponsors of the bill say the $500.00 per store is only the beginning of their campaign to destroy the chain store. The next step will be to raise the tax to $2,500.00 or more per store. It is an accepted fact that because of chain store competition, all retailers have had to sell at lower prices. With chain stores forced out of business, prices will go up much more than the 10% which the government report says chains now save the public.

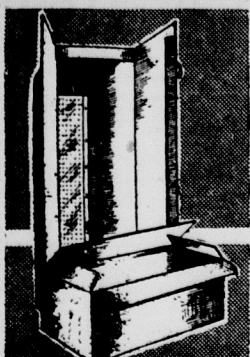

That's Why We Say -22 IS A TAX ON YOU!

Accounting Association
Ready to Begin New Year's Work

The Orange County Farm Accounting Association is now closing its first year of cooperative cost accounting and is ready to start on its second year's operations. This was announced today by Edward Hall, Santa Ana, president of the association.

"The need for a cooperative non-profit farm accounting association is becoming greater each year," said Hall. "Farmers are finding that a good accounting system is necessary for successful farm management. A careful study of operating costs in each crop enterprise will indicate to the grower where savings can be made and more efficient methods can be put into practice."

"The Orange county association is set up to assist its members analyze the efficiency of their farm business. The project was initiated by the rural credits committee of the farm bureau and has the approval of the directors of the Orange County farm bureau. The responsibility of getting the cooperative project under way has been assumed by a group of farm leaders interested in the value of a self-supporting accounting service to the individual member."

"The officers and directors of the Orange County Farm Accounting Association are: Edward M. Hall, president, Santa Ana; A. H. Allen, vice-president, Santa Ana; Frank Latham, treasurer, Tustin; Raymond Terry, secretary, Anaheim; H. Clay Kellogg, Garden Grove; Andrew Smiley, accountant, Garden Grove; and Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg."

+ + Our Presidents + +

Coolidge Won Fame By Settling Strike

By ROBERT GARDNER

Calvin Coolidge was a typical Vermont Yankee, simple in his tastes and slow of speech. He took office on the death of Warren G. Harding and was re-elected in 1924.

Before entering the White House he was mayor of Northampton, served in the legislature, was lieutenant governor and governor, and vice president. He won fame when he settled a strike in Boston for the police force.

His principles of rigid economy are still a policy of the Republican party. He set out to reduce wartime tax rates and vetoed bonus bills.

Born July 4, 1872, he was the son of John Coolidge, farmer and Victoria Moore. Educated at Amherst, he was a lawyer and a Congregationalist. He married Grace Goodhue, and they had two sons. In the 1924 election he received 382 out of 531 electoral votes. He died Jan. 5, 1933.

ORPHANS PICNIC ON THURSDAY

Picnic plans were being formulated today for the annual Santa Ana Junior college Orphan Kiddies club meet which will be held at Irvine park tomorrow afternoon and evening.

The O. K. club is a Jaycee service organization, and membership is extended to students living away from home. At present it boasts of an enrollment of 94 members representing 18 states; with representatives from Paris, France, and Cristobal, Canal Zone.

Arrangements for the picnic were completed today by a committee composed of Evelyn Chapman and Neil McDaniel, who are under the supervision of H. G. Scott and Miss Dorothy Decker, O. K. club advisors.

Members of the club are planning to gather at the board of education building at 4:30 p. m. tomorrow, from where they will depart for the park. Games and contests will be held during the late afternoon, followed by a dinner and dancing in the evening.

During the picnic, a meeting will be held in which club officers will be elected for the present semester. President Fred Erdhaus, vice-president Evelyn Chapman, and Secretary Neil McDaniel, who were the club officers last spring, will be in charge of the meeting.

ABSENT BALLOTS TOTAL 840

At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon 840 absentee ballots had been filled out in Orange county for the Nov. 3 election, with every indication being that a new record for voting outside the general pools will be set by the time the deadline for absentee voting is reached tomorrow afternoon.

County Clerk Joe Backs estimated that considerably more than 1000 absentee ballots will have been filled out by that time.

Cost of this type of voting is considerably higher than the regular vote canvass, he told the board of supervisors. Initial cost of casting the ballots is 27 cents apiece.

By the time they are canvassed, counted in special session, and the results totaled with the general election results, the cost is virtually three for $1, meaning that Orange county's expenses for absentee voting will be more than $335 out of the general election costs.

McKinney to Speak At Church Forum

B. Z. McKinney, who will speak on "Vote for Roosevelt" tonight at the Unitarian church mid-weekly public meeting, will be introduced by Mrs. Aldric Worswick, prominent Democratic woman of the county. It was announced today by the Rev. Julia Budlong.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p. m. at the church and the public is invited.

AID FOR DEAF PERSONS IS STRESSED

Rupert Hughes to Speak at 'National Hearing
Week' Convention

Leaders of hearing preservation work in Orange county today were taking part in National Hearing week, being observed all over the country this week.

Miss Ruth Bartlett, teacher of lip reading at the evening high school here, will speak over KVOE this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in connection with the campaign.

Members of the Orange County League for the Hard of Hearing will travel to Los Angeles Saturday to take part in a Southern California meeting there. Rupert Hughes will appear on the program.

A committee for north Orange county has been named to work with school nurses and doctors in testing hearing. Ninety per cent of all cases of deafness can be treated in childhood, they reported.

Officers for the league this year are Dr. Harris Newkirk, Anaheim, president; and C. B. Harper, Orange, secretary-treasurer. Vice presidents are: Santa Ana, Mrs. R. S. Thompson; Anaheim, Mrs. C. E. Cook, and Fullerton, Miss Drusilla Mackey.

Oddities in the Election

By EDWARD J. NEIL
NEW YORK, (AP)— Election oddities? The nation's full of them. And they're not all chuckles, either.

Take Delaware, where a factional fight among Republicans has developed this topsy turvy situation:

Voters will find two sets of Republican electors on their ballots Nov. 3, and one set pledged to President Roosevelt. In effect, the Republicans are running a second team against themselves. Thus the vote will be split.

Seven Voters Under Water

Prescott, Mass., with seven votes, all Republican, is participating in its last national election. By this time in 1940 the town will be under water, part of a huge reservoir being set up in the Berkshire hills. It remains an incorporated town right up to the moment it disappears beneath the waves.

There's a great political future in being a conductor on the Northwestern Railroad in Wisconsin.

Thomas J. O'Malley left the railroad to become lieutenant governor in 1932, was re-elected in 1934, and died in office last spring . . . to replace him the Democrats nominated Edward H. Gervais . . . that's right, a conductor on the Northwestern Railroad . . .

Youngest vs. Oldest

Should a political miracle happen in Texas, and a Republican governor be elected, the state would swap the youngest governor for the oldest . . . the incumbent, James V. Allred, Democrat, is 38, the Republican candidate, C. C. Harris, 78 . . . half the voters in Freedom, Wyo., cast their ballots in Idaho . . . the state line runs through the main street of the town . . .

When storms blow up on election day it sometimes takes a week to find out how the folks voted in South Pass City, Wyo., where the vote from outlying precincts comes in by horseback . . . this is the town where women's suffrage was born in 1868 . . . Esther Morris thought it up and Wyoming adopted it at territorial assembly the following year . . .

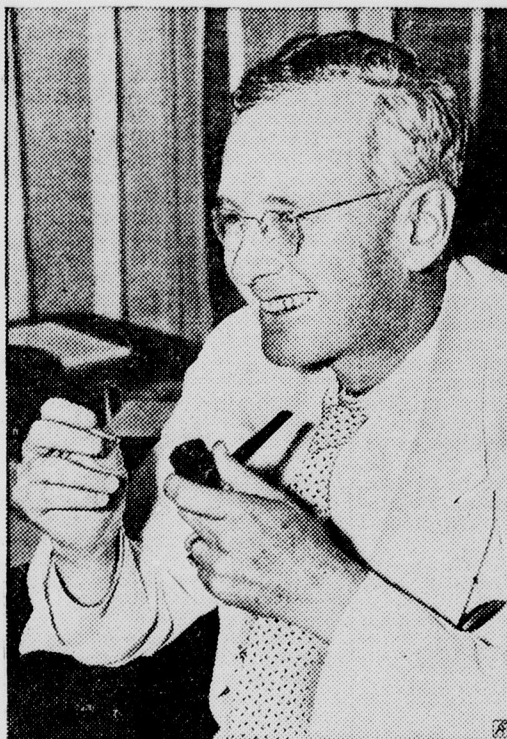

Other Queer Quirks
Montana is sending its "gin marriage" law back to the voters for another look . . . the law seeks to prevent hasty marriages by forcing a medical examination . . . doctors balked because failure to make the proper examination became a felony with loss of license to practice . . . Montanans tried nearby Gretna Greens, then adopted contracts or common-law marriages . . .

The Connecticut state attorney general will have to decide if Harold Basset recently returned from Reno, where he established a residence for divorce, thereby throwing doubt on his voting qualifications in Connecticut.

Municipal jobs go begging in Coburg, Ore. . . there are no candidates for mayor, recorder, treasurer, marshal or councilman . . . one election clerk resigned in Mt. Carmel, Ill., and others want out because the vote is expected to be the largest in history . . . too much work . . .

Two Americans

A 'Non-Political' Comparison

Alone in enjoying a good smoke, the candidates divide on mode of indulgence. Though he will accept an occasional cigar, Governor Landon prefers the homely solace of his pipe. President Roosevelt, often using a long-stemmed holder, puffs innumerable cigarettes. (Tomorrow: Down the Home Stretch)

WPA Workers Assured They Can Vote as They Please; Bourbons Laud Farm Record

By THE REPUBLICANS

There seems to be erroneous propaganda afloat and it is strange that some believe it. That is, because one has registered either as a Republican or as a Democrat, he must vote the way he is registered. Remember that both Republicans and "New Dealers" will be given the same ticket and that when they get in their booths they can exercise their American-given rights and vote the party of their choice. There will be no snooters in the booth with you. There is no way that your WPA boss or any other boss can find out how you voted.

Governor Landon has said that no WPA worker will be discharged until he gets a job elsewhere, with the exception of the political bosses who are drawing the salaries that many of the workers should have. Personally, I know many WPA workers who are competent and able to fill any of these political jobs.

Governor Landon has a reputation of fulfilling every promise and "You Can Believe Him."

Says Poll Correct

The "New Dealers" are now in the position that we Republicans were in four years ago. The "New Dealers" do not believe that the Literary Digest poll gives a true cross-section of the voters. Four years ago, the Republicans hoped against hope that the Literary Digest poll was wrong; but the election destroyed all hope. This year the Literary Digest poll shows the trend very strongly in favor of Governor Landon; not only in the Republican states but in the "New Deal" states as well. The Literary Digest poll has been correct as to the winner for the last 16 years. The editor of the Literary Digest reports that they have used every available means to get the various cross-sections of the American voters and believe that the Literary Digest poll is 100 per cent perfect this year.

Students Will Attend Conclave

Eight Santa Ana Junior college students are tentatively scheduled to attend the Sixth Pacific Southwest International Relation clubs' conference at Occidental college, Nov. 6 and 7. The groups will be addressed by noted educators and international relations authorities. Universities and colleges throughout Southern California will be represented.

The theme of this year's conference will be "The Crisis in International Organization. The topic to be led by local students is the "New Pan-Americanism," concerning the Monroe doctrine as an American policy rather than a United States policy, according to L. L. Beeman, social science instructor.

WILLIE COMING HOME

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (AP)—William Randolph Hearst, the newspaper publisher, sailed today on the Queen Mary for New York. He told friends he was returning home to vote.

By THE DEMOCRATS

Farm income hit bottom in 1932 and 1933. Many sincere people will argue that low farm prices were caused by under-consumption rather than over-production. However, to the farmer, the result was the same—more farm products on the market than could be sold at a price to pay production costs, interest, taxes and buy clothes, machinery and send Johnnie and Mary to school.

Within a week from the inauguration of President Roosevelt, through Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace, a conference of national farm leaders had been assembled, a bill prepared and submitted to congress. This was born the Agricultural Adjustment act, better known as the A.A.A. It was not a child of the so-called "brain trusters," but the blending together of the viewpoints of the agricultural leaders of the major general farm organizations and the national cooperatives.

Marketing Agreements
One section of this act dealt with basic commodities, i. e., wheat, corn, cotton, hogs, etc., and was supported by a processing tax on the commodity as it was sold. This section was subsequently declared unconstitutional by one of the famous five to four votes.

Another section of the act is still operative and has played a large part in the increase in California farm income. This was the section which permitted the producers of a commodity to form marketing agreements. We have many of these agreements operating in California. The California and Arizona citrus marketing agreement and the California and Oregon walnut agreements are the better known locally.

These agreements are supported and operated by the respective industry itself under federal regulation. The results have been to put these commodities back on their feet and to return several millions of dollars annually to Orange county and California growers. This is another example of fulfilled promises by President Roosevelt, which merits his support by Orange county growers and citizens.

QUEEN MARY'S CHIEF DIES

NEW BUILDING PLANNED FOR INDIGENTS

Supervisors Authorize
Architect to Design
$15,000 Structure

On the eve of the convening of the 1936 grand jury, recommendations of the 1935 grand jury bore fruit yesterday afternoon.

The board yesterday engaged steps toward construction of a new dormitory for indigents on the Orange county hospital grounds, to be built at a total cost of $15,000.

The board yesterday engaged Architect Everett Parks of Anaheim to draw up plans for the structure, at a 6 per cent fee. The dormitory will be designed to house from 24 to 30 persons.

Steps for its construction were taken at this time because 1936-1937 taxes will be coming in during November. The project was set up in the budget when it was drawn up last spring, but action was delayed until tax-collection was imminent.

The grand jury, in its last year's report, complained of housing of indigents in a makeshift dormitory constructed in an old kitchen, and recommended construction of a new one.

Canadian Legion To Stage Dinner

Orange county post No. 42 and Whittier post No. 39, Canadian Legion, will stage a patte (potato) and herring dinner at Hillcrest park, Fullerton, on Friday night. The program will start at 8 p. m. and the supper will be served at 9:30 p. m. Dancing will be enjoyed in the American Legion hall in the park. Highland pipers in full regalia will be in attendance.

Sands of the Desert Inspire Appointments for Pre-Nuptial Shower Courtesy

Miss Horton Honored At Bridge

Miss Charlene Lowell Presides at Pretty Evening Party

A taste of the life on the "desert" which awaits her in Tucson, where she will live after her marriage on Thanksgiving day, was arranged for Miss Barbara Horton by Miss Charlene Lowell last night when the latter entertained at a pretty pre-nuptial shower in her home on North Olive street.

Prickly pears and rock plants in shallow bowls of desert sand centered each of the small tables at which refreshments were served before cards and place cards and tallies had little Mexican figures worked into the clever motif.

After dessert, while the tables were being cleared for cards, a set of crystal was presented to the bride-to-be by the assembled friends, who had selected lovely pieces in her chosen pattern for their shower gift.

In the contract games which followed, Mrs. Faye Horton, an aunt of the honored guest, won the first prize, which was a set of pottery ash trays in a copper holder. Second prize and traveling award went to the close to Miss Martha Wallingford, the two gifts being a little Mexican water jug and glass and a tiny oxcart match holder.

Through the rooms where the tables were set were colorful bouquets of chrysanthemums sent in by a neighbor of the Lowells, Mrs. William Nelson.

Invited to honor Miss Horton, who is to be married to Hansell U. Coulson of Tucson, Ariz., on Nov. 26, were the former's mother, Mrs. J. C. Horton; her aunt, Mrs. Faye Horton; her three sisters-in-law, Mrs. George Horton, Mrs. Francis Horton, and Mrs. Chester Horton; the Mesdames George Bradley, Don Plumb, William Jerome, Jr., Ernest Stump, Jr., Q. L. Hardy, Francis Norton, and Kenneth Savage and the Mesdames Louise Rupp, Martha Wallingford, Margaret Guard, and Betty Wiswall, all of Santa Ana.

Mrs. Joe Irwin of Irvine park; Miss Loretta Spangler of Laguna Beach; Mrs. Weldon Lambert, Mrs. Allan Slater, and Mrs. Orville Schuchardt, of Long Beach, and the hostess' mother, Mrs. Joe Lowell, and her sister, Mrs. Dero Dickinson, who assisted in entertaining.

SPEECH ARTS SECTION

Speech arts section of Ebell club will meet for luncheon tomorrow at the Ebell clubhouse, convening at 11:45 a. m. with Mrs. F. F. Mead and Mrs. Mary Lacy as hostesses. An interesting program will follow the luncheon.

Home Service

Hand-Made Gifts Sell Quickly at Bazaars

Hand-made gifts are sure-fire sellers at bazaars. And the makings come from your scrap bag! The smart square pillow has a top of natural linen. It's trimmed with a two-inch strip of flowered cretonne flanked by two green linen strips. Green linen makes the boxed sides. Ornamental cord is whipped around the edges. Cotton crash or plain gingham is suitable for this pillow, too.

The lovely ruffled-edged pillow is blue satin or taffeta decked with a square of flowered silk and bands of rose-colored ribbon. Brown linen with tan rick-rack stitched round and round makes the circular boxed cushion.

Our 32-page booklet gives diagrams and directions for utility boxes, knitting bags, luncheon sets, bracelets, shoe bags and other lovely gifts. They're easy and inexpensive to make.

Send 10c for your copy of Hand-Made Gift Novelties to Santa Ana Journal, Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

WOMEN RIDERS IN SUCCESSFUL BENEFIT PARTY

Equipment for their participation in the Armistice day parade was assured with the success which attended the benefit bridge party staged recently at the Meadowlark Country club by members of the Boot 'n' Spur club, a group of young woman riders.

One hundred guests enjoyed the informal evening which concluded with refreshments, and prizes were won by the following: Mrs. Homer Derr, A. H. Bradley, Mrs. George L. Vance, in contract, and Miss Elsie Siemsen, Cedric Jones and Jim Getty, in auction. Special award went to Mrs. Evelyn Darst of San Francisco.

Hostesses for the party, the same group who will ride in the parade, were the Mesdames Charles Frazier, Oscar Hammerstein, John Ortiz, Jack Showers, Tom Allen, Jr., Harold Matthews and Chad Dysart, and the Mesdames Alysce Majors, Lily Forsberg, Delphina Lopez, George Pennock, Edna Laughlin, Mildred Vieira, Marie LaRucherie, Nellie Hershey and Esther Rummels, all of Santa Ana, and Mrs. Delbert Lewis of Orange.

Miss Laughlin, in a colorful gypsy costume, added to the fun with the telling of fortunes.

EL PASO TIEMPO CLUB RESUMES MEETINGS

Mrs. Charles Borchard was a charming hostess today at her home on Williams street when she entertained her desert bridge group, El Paso Tiempo, at its first fall meeting.

Two of the members, Mrs. Nanette Lester and Mrs. J. P. Murphy, were welcomed home from trips East, and the others enjoyed discussing with them their various summer trips and experiences.

The hostess had used flowers in the glowing fall colors about the room and on the small tables which were spread with dainty linens for the refreshment course.

Members present, besides Mrs. Borchard, Mrs. Lester and Mrs. Murphy, were the Mesdames E. B. Collier, Frank Mead, L. M. Banks, Carl Klatt, P. C. Dietler, and one new addition to the group, Mrs. Ethelbert Johnson.

YACHT CLUB PARTY IS POSTPONED

Newport Harbor Yacht club announces a change in date for its next party, planned as a Halloween party and a welcome home for several of the Olympic yachtsmen this Saturday evening.

Because some of the honor guests find it impossible to attend this week, it was decided to disband the Halloween party and hold a more formal affair Saturday, Nov. 14. Yacht dress will be in order, it is announced.

LINEN SHOWER FOR DECEMBER BRIDE-TO-BE

Taking her place among brides-elect of the coming holiday season with recent announcement of her betrothal is Miss Grace Chesley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Chesley, of 214 North Garvey, who on Dec. 20 will become the bride of Kenneth McCuskey, recently from Des Moines, Iowa.

Formal announcement of the approaching wedding date was told to friends at a party Saturday night when Miss Chesley's parents entertained in her honor in their home, the affair taking the form of a linen shower for the bride-elect's hostess.

Many lovely gifts were presented during the evening, which was played with games and which concluded with a dainty refreshment course. Chrysanthemum autumn shades made a bright setting in the rooms which were thrown open to the guests for an informal evening.

Gathering to honor the bride-to-be and her fiancé, who shared honors with her at the party, were Mrs. and Mrs. Hugh Anderson and Bud Anderson of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bjork of San Diego, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hall, Miss Harriette V. Reynolds, Mae Codding, Mrs. Max Heiber, Mrs. Margaret Cuthall, Mrs. O. S. Waters, Mrs. E. E. Bassett, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Henry, Mrs. V. Hall, Horace Codding, and the host and hostess.

AMELIA EARHART PUTNAM IS VISITOR

Mrs. Marybille Quinn of 415 South Broadway, herself a noted flyer, and holder of an altitude record, recently entertained a distinguished visitor in the person of Mrs. George Putnam (Amelia Earhart).

Mrs. Putnam was a visitor at the Quinn home here for a short time before she left for Chicago.

NEIGHBORS IN SOCIAL EVENING

Royal neighbors of Magnolia circle enjoyed Halloween festivities after their meeting Monday night in M. W. A. hall, playing games and enjoying coffee and doughnuts at the close. Prizes went to Mrs. Margaret Meyers and Mrs. Ruth Broderick.

Decorating committee members were Mrs. Robert Birt and son, Maurice, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, and Mrs. A. Keck, who used cornstarch and other shrubs to transform the room into a harvest setting.

The camp received an invitation to attend the district meeting to-night in Orange, theme of which will be "A Trip to Hawaii."

EPISCOPAL WOMEN TO MEET

Prof. T. H. Glens will address the Women's auxiliary of the Episcopal Church of the Messiah on the subject of "English Cathedralism" at its meeting Nov. 4 in the parish hall. Communion will be held at 11:30 a. m., followed by a pot-luck luncheon at noon and a business session at 2 p. m. The lecture will follow at 2:30 o'clock.

Mutual thank offerings will be due that day and may be sent to Mrs. S. W. H. Ward.

DINNER AT RANCH

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Poulson of Los Angeles, whose wedding was a pretty event last summer, were dinner guests last night at the ranch home of the former's grandmother, Mrs. Effie Penman, in Santa Ana; Mr. Poulson's mother, Mrs. Marion G. Poulson, and his aunt, Miss Minnie Penman, also joining in the gathering.

Parish Plans Huge Card Party

Growing out of all proportion to its original plans, the mammoth card party to be sponsored next month by St. Joseph's church and school, first scheduled for Nov. 18 at the parish hall, has broken its bounds and has made necessary a change in place to the Ebell clubhouse and in date to Nov. 17, it was announced today.

Judging by advance reservations, it is expected that this will be one of the largest social events of the season in the parish.

Plans include, in addition to the bridge, 500, pinocle, and bunco games, with prizes, an entertainment program as well, featuring a skit, an orchestra, and well known musicians.

Henry Stanley will act as master of ceremonies, introducing among the skit artists Baby Alice (Raez) of Hollywood radio and stage fame, who will do one of her special acts for the Santa Ana audience.

"Standing Room Only" is the title of the skit which Arthur Casey, Charlotte Morgan, Ernest Leue, and Harry Layton will present, and the Golden State Sax Quintet, who played Monday night on the KJH California's Hour program, will play. Members of this group are Chuck Borland, Hank Rankin, Norman Noyce, Stanley Logsdon and Dale Twigg.

Personnel of the Hawaiian orchestra, which will be directed by Wayne Hoffman in several numbers are Johnnie Frisby, Lloyd Deavers, Evelyn Skinner, Grover McClain, Louise Woolston and Warren Kirkpatrick.

Attractive features of the evening will also include the awarding of three big special prizes, one cash award, another a pair of tickets to the Notre Dame football game in the West, the third a decorative mirror presented by the Eureka Paint company.

Chicken sandwiches, barney stones, and coffee will be served at the end of the evening, according to plans announced by Miss Mary Savana, who is general chairman of arrangements. Other committees are to be named later. Tickets are now on sale at the Gem Electric company store and the California Pottery shop, and all are invited to save the evening of Nov. 17 for the affair.

EBELL GROUP HEARS REVIEWS, PLAYS CARDS

Miss Ethel Walker, city librarian, gave an interesting review of books on "The Spanish situation" before the Ebell current events group at a meeting yesterday when the members met for a 12:30 luncheon and program in the clubhouse.

Among the books mentioned in her talk was Ralph Bates' novel, "The Olive Field," which gives a good picture of Spain at the present time.

Mrs. John Kettler and Mrs. C. J. Cogan were co-hostesses at the luncheon, and the latter, who is section leader, also presided over the meeting. Plans were made for serving a luncheon to an outside organization November 17.

Bride following with prizes going to Mrs. George Osterman, high, and Mrs. Ernest Stump, second, both pretty outwork luncheon sets. Halloween appointments and tallies gave seasonal touches to the party.

ALL INVITED TO PLAY WITH NOTED LEADER

"Come and play" is the invitation extended by the adult education department of the local schools to everyone for Friday night when Glenn Grant, federal recreation director for 11 states, will be in Santa Ana to play with Orange countians in the Y. W. C. A. rooms.

The play night is being held in connection with the class in "Personality and Human Relations," which Mrs. Ralph Vandervort conducts in the Y. W. rooms, and will be from 7 to 9 o'clock. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Mr. Evans was formerly director of the Los Angeles playgrounds and has long been connected with the recreational work of the Southland. He will speak briefly Friday and will lead an hour of recreation.

D. U. V. TO HAVE PARADE FLOAT

That a float sponsored by the local chapter of Daughters of Union Veterans will enter the American Legion parade here on Armistice Day was ascertained yesterday at a meeting of the women.

Arrangements were put in the hands of the organization's aides, who, headed by Mrs. Geraldine Beall, include Mesdames Florence Dunn, Anna Sheflin, Pearl Nelson, Gladys Ward, Fanny Nau and Nettie Griswold.

Mrs. Jessie Overton, who presided, announced that the site of the bazaar and rummage sale to be held by the D. U. V. here Saturday will be announced in a day or so.

A welcome home was extended to Mrs. Lena Hewitt who has just recently returned from an eastern trip, and was a delegate to the national D. U. V. convention in Washington, D. C. She gave a brief report on the convention.

Officers and committee reports were given on the total number of calls paid, relief given, and flowers disbursed.

County Clubs To Convene Friday

Orange County Federation of Women's clubs will convene in Santa Ana this week, Mrs. Archibald Edwards, county president, calling the mid-year convention for Friday, Oct. 30, in the Santa Ana Ebell clubhouse, 625 French street.

Speaker of the day will be Mrs. Virginia J. Esterly, counselor of human relations at Scripps college in Claremont. Her talk will occur in the afternoon session, which is to start at 1:30 p. m.

Executive board meeting is scheduled for 9:30 a. m., and the convention call to order at 10, followed by reports and plans. Forum discussion on "The Modern Clubwoman, Her Responsibility to Home, Community, State and Nation," will start at 11:30 o'clock and continue until the luncheon hour, 12:30 o'clock. Ebell club will furnish luncheon program. All clubwomen are urged to attend as co-hostesses.

Guests introduced during the business meeting preceding the bridge games were Miss Stella Wilhelm, Mrs. H. Gould, and Mrs. Robert Gould.

Mrs. Warren Fletcher presided over the meeting, during which plans were also discussed for the dance on December 26 at the Orange Woman's clubhouse. Miss Ruth Bradley reporting on progress thus far in the arrangements.

In the six tables of contract and bridge, prizes were won by Mrs. H. Hitt, high in auction, and by Mrs. Robert Guild and Miss Dana Rudolph in contract. Refreshments, served at the small tables, followed, and plans were made to meet next on November 24, the place to be announced later.

COSTUME PARTY MARKS SEVENTH BIRTHDAY

Witches, clowns and all kinds of hobgoblins went to Carol Jean Bennett's birthday party on Monday afternoon when her mother, Mrs. Florett Bennett, entertained a group of small cousins and friends at their home at 1639 East Fourth street to mark her daughter's seventh birthday anniversary.

The children were all in costume, and decorations through the rooms were in keeping with the Halloween season. Yellow and orange flowers harmonized with the red and gold autumn leaves on the table, and orange and black streamers showering from the chandelier to the four corners of the table added to the festivity of the scene.

Mrs. A. C. Keck assisted Mrs. Bennett in serving the guests after an hour or so of games and Halloween fun.

Participating in the gala celebration with Carol Jean were Dixie Jean Lee of Pomona, Marilyn Knapp of Alhambra, Florence Martin and Lila Mae Fink of Santa Ana, all cousins of the honored guest; and Marilyn Crane and Vivian and Sherman Carlisle of Anaheim and Karen Bugge, Lois Crawford, Patsy Kiewer, Gwendolyn Mendall, Marjorie Smith and Robert Levin, all of Santa Ana.

JOB'S DAUGHTERS WILL INITIATE

Job's Daughters had a comparatively short business meeting last night which was terminated by the serving of piping hot chocolate and doughnuts by Miss Betty Carlson and her committee.

At the session, led by Miss Dorothy Carlson, it was decided to send Mrs. William Dean, local Job's Daughters guardian, to the grand guardian council convening in Pasadena Nov. 12, 13, and 14. Several of the members plan to attend, also.

The chapter will hold formal initiation on Nov. 24, it was announced, and reports that the girls' mountain cabin is almost completed filled them with excited plans for winter sports.

Miss Eloise Hisey will be refreshment chairman of the next meeting.

Mary Stoddard Age Is Big Factor in Advising Girls on Heart Problems and Matrimony

By MARY STODDARD

Often, too often in fact, I receive letters from girls seeking my advice on their heart problems which do not state their writer's age. I have always endeavored to be a friend and advisor to old and young, parents and children, alike. But the age of the young writer is of prime importance. It's impossible to advise a girl of 16 as I would a girl of 26. Here is an example of why I must keep my fingers crossed when replying. She falls to state her age!

Panhellenic At Doris Kathryn

Little three-piece vase ensembles of antique white pottery were the attractive prizes awarded last night at Panhellenic's October party held at the Doris Kathryn, at which Mrs. William Croddy, Mrs. Clarence McFadden, Mrs. Harry LeBar, Mrs. Robert Low, and Mrs. E. M. Sundquist presided as co-hostesses.

Guests introduced during the business meeting preceding the bridge games were Miss Stella Wilhelm, Mrs. H. Gould, and Mrs. Robert Gould.

Mrs. Warren Fletcher presided over the meeting, during which plans were also discussed for the dance on December 26 at the Orange Woman's clubhouse. Miss Ruth Bradley reporting on progress thus far in the arrangements.

In the six tables of contract and bridge, prizes were won by Mrs. H. Hitt, high in auction, and by Mrs. Robert Guild and Miss Dana Rudolph in contract. Refreshments, served at the small tables, followed, and plans were made to meet next on November 24, the place to be announced later.

SURPRISE PARTY PROVES REAL SURPRISE

Going to call on his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Anthon, at 811 South Flower street, Monday evening, U. S. Anthon, whose birthday is today, found himself the center of a gay surprise party which had been planned in his honor.

More than twenty friends awaited him at the F. H. Anthon home where an evening of bunco ensued and where later a birthday cake was cut in celebration of the approaching anniversary.

Lucky winners in the bridge games were Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Robinette, high, and Mrs. Emma Smith and W. E. Eckles, second high, each receiving prize awards. While these were being presented, together with the gifts brought for the honored guest, the hostess prepared small tables with attractive Halloween appointments for the serving of orange-colored jello and dark frosted cake. A birthday cake made by Mrs. Cleo Richardson of Long Beach did the real honors of the occasion and harmonized with the decorative theme with a Halloween motif worked into the frosting with the name of the birthday guest.

Participating in this happy celebration with Mr. Anthon were his wife and his two daughters, Miss Ada and Miss Ruth Anthon; his son and daughter-in-law, the F. H. Anthon, and their children, Beverly Jo and Buddy; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McPeters; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Eckles, Mr. and Mrs. William Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Robinette, and Gale Hartley, all of Santa Ana. Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Richardson of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Fritz of Huntington Park, Mrs. Emma Smith of Bartlett, Kans., a winter visitor here, and Frank Robinette of Chautauqua, Ill.

Party Given as Farewell Gesture

Mrs. P. N. Chapin was hostess Monday at an attractively arranged 1 o'clock luncheon in her home at 515 East Chestnut street, seating eight guests at one long table and the others at two small tables, all gay with Halloween decorations and Mexican still-lives. The delicious luncheon was served on green and orange pottery.

Mrs. Victor Fleming of Anaheim assisted her mother in serving. Contract and auction bridge were played after the luncheon, with Mrs. Bertha Berry receiving first prize and Mrs. A. N. Zerman second in contract and Mrs. Sam Long and Mrs. R. H. Seaber in auction.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Ann Littlefield, Mrs. Cora Orton, and Miss Corrie Cole of Long Beach, and Santa Anans present were the Mesdames I. D. Wallingford, C. C. Fuller, R. H. Seaber, R. I. Matthews, Luella Blackburn, G. H. Grigg, A. N. Zerman, Charles Mitchell, Maggie May Ried, Wilfred Lewis, C. H. Lurker, Sam Long, Bertha Berry, and Mrs. Chapin's other daughter, Mrs. Eugene Anderson.

Mrs. Chapin took this occasion to wish these friends farewell, as the Chapin family is moving Nov. 1 to San Diego to make their new home.

BIRTHDAY FETE HELD YESTERDAY

Eight blazing candles on a birthday cake, noise-makers, paper caps, fortunes, horns—everything grand for a little girl's party—met the eyes of four little friends of Miss Marion Richards when they gathered at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James F. B. Richards, 721 South Birch street, yesterday afternoon.

The youngsters were directed at their play by Mrs. Richards, Mrs. O. P. Jones, a guest, and Mrs. Mabel Brown, grandmother of the honoree.

Those participating in the event were Miss Jeannette Jones, Miss Lois Anne Jones, Miss Lucille Moore, Miss Joe Lee Smothers and Miss Marion Richards.

RUMMAGE AND FOOD SALE

Pumpkin pies and homemade candies are announced by Orange Avenue Christian church women's group, who will sponsor the food sale which will be in connection with the two-day rummage sale on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 6 and 7, at 208 East Fourth street.

Other varieties of foods are also to be on sale, according to Mrs. Florence Krueger, chairman, and her committee, who include Mrs. E. L. Patton, Mrs. H. E. Switzer, and Mrs. Hugh Gerrard.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

QUICK, Watson—the salt-shaker! Some of the clients may want to take this story with a grain of salt. Or something!

This, people, comes from Chet Congdon, my good friend and swallow expert at San Juan Capistrano. Chet swears that it's true, and he's a man of his word. So, believe it, or not!

His mind stimulated by the recent departure of the mission swallows, Chet started remembering when his dad, J. R. Congdon, was operating a ranch about a mile southwest of the mission along about 1880.

The day he had in mind was San Juan Day—when the swallows leave the mission. True to their tradition, which they follow today, the birds left their nests, which had been built on the mission walls, and headed south.

However, before the birds had covered a mile of their long flight to South America, or wherever they go, something—maybe hawks, or some other bird of prey, Chet says—frightened 'em. The entire flock took refuge in the Congdon barn.

Naturally, there were some birds that all couldn't find a place to land, and so they clung to each other, much after the fashion of a swarm of bees, apparently frightened out of their wits.

"My dad," Chet says, "and my brother-in-law, R. B. Cook, noticed the birds and their peculiar actions and decided they were afflicted with some malady and were unable to continue their trip. Entering the barn, they picked up handfuls of the birds and tossed them into the air to see if they could fly. Although these birds seemed to be able to navigate, they flew right back into the shelter with the others."

Chet then relates that, after remaining in the barn for about a half-hour, a few of 'em ventured forth and flew around a bit. Soon, the entire flock took wing and headed on their journey to the south again.

"I have heard my folks speak of this incident many times, but if you doubt my story one bit, just run up and see R. B. Cook, at 517 French street in Santa Ana. He was an eye witness," Chet said.

That should do something toward proving that the swallows really do leave the mission in a flock—and not a few at a time, like some doubters hint. I'm thankful to Chet for his story of the strange happening—too bad folks didn't have cameras handy in those days!

Although they almost became lost in the foliage, being so enthusiastic Anaheim residents, who annually cultivate huge crops of whiskers around Halloween time, members of the Associated Chambers of Commerce had a nice meeting in the Elks club last night.

Nobody argued, much, except when Harrison H. Hale, President of No. 1 question asked, wanted to know a thing or two about amendments which Ted Craig was explaining. He found out, too!

Herb Eldred, president of the Anaheim Merchants association, brought his beard to the meeting. At first folks thought someone's mattress had escaped and was sneaking into the session, but the abundant mass of foliage finally was identified as the popular merchant. Russ McComb, Fourth Estator, also wore his beard, but Russ' effort paled before the magnificence of the Eldred display.

Howard Irwin, who often has been pointed out as one of the few remaining Republicans in the county, also attended, although he didn't wear a beard. Howard was bothered during the early part of the meeting. He was missing a political speech!

Candidates were introduced, as usual. LeRoy Lyon, supervisor, got a big hand. So did Assemblyman Jimmie Utt. And Mrs. Lucanua McFadden, representing her husband, Tom, was introduced.

The show was about to move onward when someone discovered Congressman Sam Collins hiding in a corner. After he had been "discovered," Congressman Sam made a nice talk. Incidentally, a short talk.

Met Claude Harlow, Midway City representative. Claude and I always introduce ourselves. I'm Ernie Walker, Yorba Linda, and present. Mr. and Mrs. George Kellogg. "Southern Pacific" Sharpley, with whom I'm plotting a large deal. Fred Warner and a large delegation from San Clemente. Harry Welch, Newport and Bill Gallienne, Huntington Beach, only coastline secretaries attending. George Raymer says Ted Craig is a good guy. Ted says George is a good guy. Everyone's happy. John Cassidy, fish and game, talked about sardines. Harry May, Fullerton, hurried through minutes of the last meeting. Ted Craig still gives Jimmie Utt orders. Ted's still speaker!

PREPARE FOR RECORD CROWD FRIDAY AT ANAHEIM PARADE

FETE STARTS WITH COURT TOMORROW

Starting Time for March Set for 7:30 P. M.; Route Announced

ANAHEIM.—Featured by a huge parade which chamber of commerce officials claim will be many times larger and more impressive than at any previous celebration, the 12th annual Anaheim Halloween celebration is slated to start here this evening with judging of decorated stores and windows.

The two-day fete officially opens at 10 a. m. tomorrow with a kangaroo court at which residents not properly costumed or merchandised without whiskers will be tried and fined. The annual whist-kernio contest will be staged at 4 p. m. tomorrow, with a grand costume ball slated for 9:30 o'clock tomorrow evening in the Elks club.

Horse Show Slated
Friday's festivities open with a horse show at the city park. The parade is slated to start at 7:30 p. m. Friday, and a vaudeville in the city park and street dance on Center between Los Angeles and Lemon streets will close the affair, George Reid, chamber of commerce secretary, said today.

Hundreds of entries, both from local merchants and outside firms and communities have been received by the parade committee, assuring visitors of the most impressive spectacle ever offered in conjunction with the annual affair, it was announced. Ten bands and many musical entries will be seen in the parade, and the usual equestrian division this year will be accompanied by the Long Beach mounted police patrol.

Parade Route Told
The parade, which starts at 7:30 p. m., begins at Atchison street, travels West on Center street to Los Angeles; thence south on Los Angeles to Broadway; west on Broadway to South Citron and return to Center street; thence east to Los Angeles street and north to Sycamore, where the parade disbands.

Greater enthusiasm has been shown in preparation for the celebration than ever before, Reid said today, and one of the largest crowds ever to attend the annual fete is expected for the parade and other feature events. Anaheim's police force will be augmented by sheriff's deputies and police from other communities to insure proper handling of traffic and other problems, it was announced.

Orange Class Has Halloween Party

ORANGE.—A "hard times" Halloween party was held by the Friendly Hand class of the Presbyterian church Monday evening in the lower church auditorium. Games were played, and later all joined in writing a letter to Mrs. Gussie White, Long Beach, teacher of the class, who is ill at her home.

Two of the class members, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Green, who spent the summer in the British Isles, told of their experiences. Lucky prizes were awarded to Mrs. Charles Caster and Vern O. Estes. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Wickersheim, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Elder, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pister, Mrs. Ethel Clark, Miss Edna Case, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Doncaster, Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Carpenter.

Other class members present were Dr. and Mrs. Robert B. McAulay, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Woods, Mr. and Mrs. William Cook, Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Caster, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Emley, Garden Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stratton, Mr. and Mrs. Vern O. Estes, Mrs. H. G. Joost, Mrs. E. C. Frevert, Mrs. Orlo Hobbs, Miss Maude Sisson and John Gehardt.

Savanna P-T-A Members Feted

HANSEN.—As a compliment to members of the Savanna P-T-A, Mrs. Mabel Spizzy, director of music in the county schools, entertained at an afternoon tea at her home in Santa Ana Friday.

The party included Mrs. Fern Vipond, Mrs. Lottie Heitshusen, Mrs. Gladys Nordstrom, Mrs. Ella Kealher, Mrs. C. E. Pollock, Mrs. Helene Schuerman and Mrs. Dorothy Denniss.

Dr. Atwell III In Laguna Home

LAGUNA BEACH.—Dr. Francis Atwell, retired dental surgeon and former resident of Santa Ana, is reported in a critical condition at his home on Temple Hills drive. A short time ago he spent some time in a Santa Ana hospital. Before coming to Southern California, Dr. Atwell practiced dentistry in Missoula, Mont.

HALLOWE'EN CARNIVAL IS SLATED BY MESA P-T-A.

COSTA MESA.—Final preparations for a huge Halloween carnival to be staged by the P-T-A, next Saturday at the Main school playgrounds were made at a joint meeting of the executive board and grade mothers' club in the home of Mrs. John Webster, on Orange avenue, recently.

The Halloween entertainment will begin with a grand costume parade at 7 o'clock with prizes for best dressed boy or girl. At 7:30, a general free program will be given on the center platform stage. This will include local artists as well as amateur performances. Coach Ralph Reed of Newport Harbor High school will be manager of races and contests.

Record of 55 Years on Newport Pier Is Set by Jim Perry, Aged Angler

By FRANK DOWSETT

NEWPORT BEACH.—When they next start putting plaques on the bait-house at the head of Newport's pier, Jim Perry probably will find his name on the top line. Although only 78 years old, he was a mere minnow somewhere in Illinois and Kansas and the Indian territory, Perry has been fishing off this pier more than half a century. Fifty-five years, to be exact. His first time was in 1881, less than a year after the original deepwater jetty was built here by McFadden for the benefit of his new lumber business.

Perry has not missed many days since. Nor have there been many catches. He has been a consistent successful fisherman ever since those first days when it took him all night to drive down here from Pomona with his team.

"Needed the wagon, too," he grinned, eyes blue as a morning tide, slyly considering the charred bowl of his corncob pipe. "Fishin' was good, then."

"We used to spread straw on the bottom of the wagon and load them in like cordwood, my boys and I did. Yellowtail bass, bay anchovy, some sacks of potatoes and truck, and still had to smoke a couple of barrels of 'em we had left. Used an old piano box and corncocks."

"Yes, 'fishin' was good then," winked Perry, pulling in another fish to add to the half-dozen already in his sack, using nothing more elaborate than a mackerel pole, and nothing so superfluous as a tackle box.

LAGUNA POSTAL 60 PASTORS AT RECEIPTS UP ORANGE RALLY

LAGUNA BEACH.—Revealing community growth as well as a general improvement in business conditions, is a substantial increase in postal receipts which for the first nine months this year amounted to $23,116 as compared to $19,881 for the corresponding period of 1935.

While community growth contributed in a measure to the gain, reported at $3,235, during the period extending from Jan. 1 to Sept. 30 inclusive, the major factor in effecting the gain was improvement in general business conditions, reflected in an appreciable increase in commercial mail and parcel post addressed to commercial concerns.

Orange Club Has Grove Meeting

ORANGE.—The Garden Grove home of Mrs. Harvey Emley was the scene of a meeting of Chat and Sew club members Tuesday night, with names drawn for the annual Christmas party, to be held early in December.

Present were Mesdames Ensley Campbell, E. C. Frevert, Wilbur Woods, Oliver Wickersheim, Vern O. Estes, Earl Smith, C. E. Wood, Carl Pister, J. W. Powell and Miss Maude Sisson, Orange, and Mrs. Ted Nail, Santa Ana.

were entertained at a Halloween party Saturday afternoon by their leader, Mrs. H. B. McMurtry.

The children of the first, second and third grades, were all in costume. Games were played and a fortune telling booth was conducted by Mrs. J. P. McAvoy.

CRUISE WILL BE REGATTA FEATURE

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Plans for a 40-foot class sailing race from Los Angeles-Long Beach harbor to Newport as a feature of the Newport Harbor Christmas regatta will be considered at a special session of the regatta committee next Saturday afternoon, it was announced today by Commodore W. H. Rohl.

On his committee he has appointed William Bartholomae, jr., Rear Commodore, K. L. Carver, Felix H. Farwell, directors, representing the Newport Harbor Yacht club; S. A. Meyer, president, Paul A. Palmer, Capt. William J. Brown, Dick Terkel, J. M. Webster and Hook Beardslee, of the Newport Harbor chamber of commerce.

"The success of the sailing races held last year," Commodore Rohl said, "has prompted the joint-committee to attempt a much larger and more attractive program for this year's Christmas regatta."

Events under consideration include sailing races for Stars, sixes and eights meters, snowbirds, power boats and the 40-foot class race from San Pedro to Newport.

Mesa Group Has Annual Party

COSTA MESA.—The annual Halloween party of the Epworth league was held recently in the Eugene Thomas barn, near Tustin, which was decorated for the occasion by Mrs. Clyde Otto, sister of the owner, and Mrs. Carl Focht. The committee in charge included Mrs. Raymond K. Eastman, Mary and Grace Shilling, Evelyn Soldan and Howard Grebe.

Present were Hugh Davis, Earl Burdall, Geraldine Perry, Lois Detmore, Helen Davis, Herbert Baird, Jr., Warren Cassel, Marion Nelson, Wayne Howard, Howard Grebe, Harold Elmer, Harlan Arnold, Leroy Shilling, Evelyn Baird, Grace Shilling, Evelyn Soldan, Donald Otto, Doris McMurtry, Philip Cassel, Grace Daughenbaugh, Jean Croughan, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Otto, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Long, Aveline Nelson, Mrs. Herbert Shilling, Betty Ross, Ethel Gill, Mary Shilling, William Hinesley, Thelma Allen, Jane Sincor, Richard Owen, Doris Gibson, William Cooper, Betty Lambertson, Dorothy Gardner, Betty Hinesley, Herbert Grebe, Leila Smith, Mildred Myrland, Clifford Rea, Dick Otto, the Rev. and Mrs. W. I. Lowe, Mae Margaret Winterbourne, Christine Baird, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond K. Eastman, all of Costa Mesa, and Mr. and Mrs. F. Thomas and Gladys Thomas, Santa Ana.

Mesa Rites Held For J. W. Williams

COSTA MESA.—Funeral services for John W. Williams, 83, were conducted Tuesday morning from Dixon's chapel, with the Rev. W. I. Lowe officiating. Mr. Williams, who was a native of England, had lived in the United States for 60 years and in Costa Mesa for the past 20 years. He was a retired mining engineer.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Rose McCullough, Bisbee, Ariz., and Mrs. Lena Eades, Santa Ana. Interment was in Westminster Memorial park.

Seek Gym Class At Costa Mesa

COSTA MESA.—An effort is being made to establish a woman's gymnasium class as an adult education project at the Newport Harbor High school. In order to obtain this free class it is necessary to get 25 signers who will agree to attend being circulated by Miss Mary Shilling or may be obtained from Hazel Wilcox. The regular girls' gymnasium teacher will be in charge.

H. H. Hammond Is Feted at Party

HANSEN.—Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Scott, Ball road, entertained at a family party recently as a compliment to Mrs. Scott's father, H. H. Hammond, who was observing his 83rd birthday.

Included in the group were Mrs. Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Bingham, Van Nuys; Bob Hammond, Fullerton; Mrs. Margaret Noble, Ward Noble and Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Scott, house guests from Texas.

5,000 Indian Beads Are Found by Costa Mesan

COSTA MESA.—W. B. Murbarger, local archeologist with Bower's Memorial museum, returned this week from six weeks spent in excavating on the William Randolph Hearst ranch, "Sunical," in San Luis Obispo county where he holds sole privileges for this work.

Among items of special interest are more than 5000 beads taken from ancient Indian graves. These beads, which are of 15 distinct types, represent three historical periods—the Cabrillo contact in 1542; the Spanish and English contacts in 1679 and the expedition of Portola in 1779, according to Arthur M. Woodward, of Washington, D. C., foremost authority on beads of all nations.

Many of the necklaces bore interesting pendants of abalone shell, a Spanish coin date of 1764, clappers for small mission bells, several very old types of metal buttons and the arm of a small crockery doll or Mission saint.

Some interesting Indian paintings of pictographs, hitherto unknown to the white man, were discovered by Murbarger on the headwaters of the Macimiento river. A number of stone relics were presented by him to the San Antonio mission at Jolon, third oldest of the Franciscan missions in California, and which houses a large collection of early-day material.

The specimens brought back by Murbarger, which include many stone relics in addition to the beads, will soon be placed on display at the Bower's Memorial museum at Twentieth and Main in Santa Ana.

Postpone Play At Laguna Beach

LAGUNA BEACH.—Frank Marsh, director of the Little Art theater, Graceland drive, today announced postponement of the three-act comedy "Look Who's Here," scheduled for Friday evening has been postponed to Friday, Nov. 6.

The postponement, it was explained, is due to the fact that a number of players in the cast took part in The Passion Play, presented here last week, which caused a delay in rehearsals.

The Girl of the Rocking Arrow

CHAPTER XI
Roy regained consciousness to find himself lying on hard sand, his breath coming in choking gasps. The rain beat in his face. It helped to revive him.

He staggered to his feet and looked about groggily. Steep cliffs rose behind him, and on both banks of the river, the waters had miraculously thrown him up on a sandbar below the rapids. But what good did it do him? There was no way ashore except down the river past those cliffs.

He sank to his knees. Sarah was drowned—there could be no doubt of it. He groaned. Why had not the river taken him in the same manner? A vision of the girl swam before his eyes. The bright blue eyes, the copper-tinted hair, and the rounded oval of her face. He groaned again. He had failed. At the last, Picos had dragged her to her death.

Then, unexpectedly, he saw the foreman! The river had been kind to Picos, too. He lay sprawled at the other end of the bar, almost hidden by a mass of broken tree branches.

Roy rose and staggered toward the prone figure. But before he reached the foreman, a gun crashed, the shot echoing from the rock cliffs. A slug tore up the sand at Roy's feet.

He crouched, right hand reaching automatically for his holster. But his gun was gone! He had dropped it to the river's bottom. Picos' snarling voice barked at him. The foreman was sighting along the muzzle of his gun.

"I reckon there ain't room on this sandbar for two of us!" Roy knew that nothing short of a miracle could save him now. But strangely, he didn't care. Sarah was drowned. The thought hampered at his brain. Picos had saved himself and let her perish.

Roy stood there, eyes bloodshot, swaying a little.

"Why don't you shoot, you murderin' coyote!" he rasped.

Picos laughed derisively. "I've changed my mind, I've got a better plan for you, John Tedgar! I been tryin' to figger out who yuh was since the day yuh come to the Rockin' Arrow. I know yuh now! The sheriff'll be right pleased to meet up with yuh when I tell him yuh robbed the boss' safe."

Roy's eyes turned opaque. This was the bandit—the hombre who had killed his partner! He had had a hunch all along. He was sure of it now.

Picos grinned at him, enjoying what he took to be Roy's consternation.

Seek Quarters For Girl Scouts

ORANGE.—Civic workers today were searching for new quarters for more than 100 Girl Scouts, following recent action by the city council which left eight active troops and two troops of "Brownies" without a suitable meeting place.

The former quarters in the city hall were vacated when the council disclosed plans for moving the children's library into that location.

ATTEND DINNER

HANSEN.—Mr. and Mrs. Mark Nordstrom and daughter, Georgina, attended a Spanish dinner party recently by members of the Luther league of St. Peter's church, Santa Ana.

PREPARE FOR SEA SCOUTS AT BEACH

NEWPORT.—Newport Beach will be host to 400 Sea Scouts of the five western states, it was announced today when the second annual Sea Scout Rendezvous is held here under canvas on the city camp grounds Nov. 27 to 29 inclusive.

Arrangements are in the hands of Harry H. Williamson, mayor, S. A. Meyer, president of the Newport Harbor chamber of commerce; Lloyd Claire, chairman of the Newport Beach Scout committee, and Harry Welch, secretary of the Newport Harbor chamber of commerce.

Scouts, the committee declared, will have every opportunity to enjoy the greater Newport Harbor completed since their visit here last year. Sailing races, rowing races, swimming and a special surprise event are scheduled to entertain the junior seamen. Ashore, a dance and a theater party already are in preparation.

Form Brotherhood At Capistrano

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—At a meeting held in the Community church last night, attended by 46 men of the community, J. S. Malcom, acting as chairman, appointed a committee to draw up a constitution and by-laws for a Men's Brotherhood of Capistrano. Named on the committee were David T. Prenter, chairman; A. E. Nyelegger, Vernon C. Beck, Francis W. Rogers, John M. Ray and William A. Speer.

The committee will report at a meeting scheduled for Nov. 24 when organization of the Brotherhood will be completed. Assemblyman Ted Craig gave an outline of measures to be voted on at the Nov. 3 election and Assemblyman James Utt gave a short talk on advantages a community receives from a Men's Brotherhood.

Hansen Couple Feted at Dinner

HANSEN.—Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hanneman and their houseguest, Ralph Shearer, Oakland, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Pollock, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Guinn and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Remick, Los Angeles, were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kreuger at their home in Downey.

his feet and let the gun thud to the sand.

"Git me out of here!" Roy dragged off his outer clothes, and made Picos do the same. Suddenly, he saw a livid scar that creased the foreman's back, and his eyes narrowed.

"All right, Picos!" he rasped. "This ain't goin' to be a straw-berry festival. You'll do as I say or we'll both end up in a watery grave. Get into the water and roll over on yore back!"

It took Picos several minutes to get up nerve enough to do that, but finally, he was in the water, and Roy was towing him. He was as heavy as a water-soaked log. Roy had to use force several times to keep him from getting a death-grip as the water swirled around them.

The river carried them swiftly downstream. After what seemed hours, they passed from the narrow chasm and reached wider, smoother waters.

Roy began working in towards shore, fighting every inch of the way. His arms were aching, and complete exhaustion, but he fought on desperately, dragging at Picos' weight.

The foreman was the first to feel the soft sand underfoot. With a cat-like stealth, he broke free, and got a strangle hold on Roy's neck. Both went under.

Picos had decided that it was time for him to gain the upper hand!

THE NAMES of those candidates to congress in California who were endorsed by the Townsend movement were read.

Edward J. Margett, California Townsend manager, was presented as master of ceremonies. He introduced a number of congressional candidates, each of whom spoke in favor of the Townsend plan. Margett followed with a short address.

He was followed by Willis Owen, who illustrated the feasibility of the Townsend transaction tax method of financing the Townsend annuities, and gave reasons why such a tax should not, and probably would not, be passed on to the consumer. Business conditions would be so benefited, he explained, that such a tax could be readily and profitably absorbed by business concerns.

The concluding element of the program was a radio transcription dialogue between Dr. Francis E. Townsend and Howard Ray, national radio director of the Townsend movement. The dialogue essayed to make plain to California Townsdenites the reasons for Dr. Townsend's opposition to President Roosevelt's re-election, and his endorsement of William Lemke in states where he is on the ballot, and of Governor Land in elsewhere. He advised against any attempt on the part of the Townsdenites to write in the name of Lemke, saying it was throwing votes away.

The transcription concluded with an announcement by Ray of next Sunday evening's broadcast when Dr. Townsend will speak over a national hook-up which will include every Columbia system station in the United States. On the Pacific coast the beginning time will be 7:45 o'clock. The doctor's speech will continue for 15 minutes and will cost nearly $8,000.

THE NAMES of those candidates to congress in California who were endorsed by the Townsend movement were read.

Edward J. Margett, California Townsend manager, was presented as master of ceremonies. He introduced a number of congressional candidates, each of whom spoke in favor of the Townsend plan. Margett followed with a short address.

He was followed by Willis Owen, who illustrated the feasibility of the Townsend transaction tax method of financing the Townsend annuities, and gave reasons why such a tax should not, and probably would not, be passed on to the consumer. Business conditions would be so benefited, he explained, that such a tax could be readily and profitably absorbed by business concerns.

The concluding element of the program was a radio transcription dialogue between Dr. Francis E. Townsend and Howard Ray, national radio director of the Townsend movement. The dialogue essayed to make plain to California Townsdenites the reasons for Dr. Townsend's opposition to President Roosevelt's re-election, and his endorsement of William Lemke in states where he is on the ballot, and of Governor Land in elsewhere. He advised against any attempt on the part of the Townsdenites to write in the name of Lemke, saying it was throwing votes away.

The transcription concluded with an announcement by Ray of next Sunday evening's broadcast when Dr. Townsend will speak over a national hook-up which will include every Columbia system station in the United States. On the Pacific coast the beginning time will be 7:45 o'clock. The doctor's speech will continue for 15 minutes and will cost nearly $8,000.

Defeat the Tenure Bill

CALIFORNIA voters are being asked to go "the whole hog" on teacher tenure at the general election. The request is in the form of Proposition No. 11 on the ballot.

This new proposal would freeze into the constitution a great mass of experimental legislative detail upon a matter which is still in the experimental form itself. The present tenure act has caused great trouble in the school system by inducing many school boards to adopt the policy of firing a teacher before his job becomes permanent. This has resulted in an unsettled condition in many districts, with an almost complete turnover of teacher personnel every three years.

Proposition No. 11 would take this experimental act from the hands of the legislature, where it can easily be improved or amended, if necessary, and cement it into the state constitution, where changes would be possible only by popular vote every two years.

It is indicative that the California Teachers' association, comprised of some 37,000 members representing more than 90 per cent of the teachers in the state, is opposed to the measure. Its principal objection is to the provision which takes the control of tenure out of the hands of local school trustees and places it under a three-man state tenure board composed of teachers who must hold secondary credentials. This the association labels as an unwarranted discrimination against elementary teachers.

A sub-section of the proposed amendment, incidentally, provides for election of this tenure board "in the same manner as justices of the state supreme court are elected." This is grossly misleading. Members of the supreme court are not elected. They are now appointed by the governor.

Another section provides that any teacher in a district under 850 attendance may be transferred without his consent to any other equivalent position under the jurisdiction of the county superintendent of schools, and without consent of the governing board of the district to which he is transferred. This is unfair on the face of it.

Play safe and vote "NO" on Proposition No. 11.

Only a year ago Gerald L. K. Smith was preaching the funeral service of a would-be dictator. Now the Rev. Smith himself wants to be dictator. Someone should remind Mr. Smith that, after history has repeated itself, it will be too late to remember the lesson that history should have taught.

King Edward and Marriage

NOW THAT the American-born Mrs. Wallie Simpson has her divorce, the report is that King Edward will marry her. Well, why not?

If King Edward is man enough to wed the woman of his choice—defying the conventions and rules which prescribe European royalty—more power to him!

We are glad to see that the King has chosen a woman of his own age and his own sophistication. His chances for a happy married life are much greater than if he had done the conventional thing and been united to some dull, young European princess who possessed neither his temperament nor outlook.

Of course, the English take their royal house seriously. But in an enlightened age like this—when there is nothing to be gained for England through a marriage with the royal line of some other nation—there is no sound reason why King Edward shouldn't follow the promptings of his heart in choosing a bride.

Maybe it isn't a desert wind after all. Maybe it's just the politicians blowing off back in Washington.

An Intense Campaign

JUST A week now and we'll be marching to the polls to select a host of new political leaders and to vote on a swarm of new constitutional amendments.

The campaign has been really intense, and you don't need to listen to political speakers over the radio to learn that. Just glance at the registration figures.

There you'll find that there probably will be a record vote, indicating that most everybody is pretty strongly for or against one of the candidates or the other.

The big cities all have record or near-record registration totals, surpassing the previous peak year of 1932. In Los Angeles, for example, there has been a gain of 95,916 registrations to the present total of 793,926.

In Orange county, the present registration is 65,954, a gain of 3,121 over the previous August figure.

All of which augurs a busy day for the voting booths November 3.

Vagrant thought: Do you remember a game called "Knock, knock"?

'Humanity' in War

THE HEIGHT of contradiction in found in the assertion by Col. Adolfo Gibson of the U. S. Chemical Warfare service that poison gas is the "most humane" means of warfare today.

Col. Gibson should remember Nobel, who increased the power of his explosives on the theory that they would be so frightful that no one would use them, and all war would end. Instead, the war-makers welcomed each more terrible destructive instrument with open arms, and put it to work.

The contradiction in the colonel's statement is obvious. How can anything, designed to cripple, torture and kill me, be termed "humane"?

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

Jim Barton, the actor, has a small town slant that furnishes him with more wholesome recreation than comes to the average player in a Broadway run. His home is at Babylon, L. I., scene of his fun ventures. Most stars in the chips dangle the "Sunday idea" of penthouses and country estates.

O. O. McIntyre

Recently Barton built near his suburb the Barton Stadium, an athletic field devoted chiefly to his favorite sport, baseball. He has a bang-up team known as the Barton Long Islanders and on Sundays and several times a week there are spirited contests to froth things up.

Barton also maintains dog kennels, breeding and raising several varieties of pooches. And only recently opened what is known as Jim Barton's Mad Dog Cantina, given over to dining and dancing. The mad dog title came from the drunk story he used to tell in vaudeville. The funniest sous e yarn ever told.

In late years, the Tobacco Road star has become a settled family man. Every night his wife Catherine is in his dressing room and afterwards they take the first train to Babylon. Despite aptitude for drunken roles, he has not been seen in Broadway groceries for many a day.

Among startling resemblances of the town is that between Bill Corum, the sports writer, and Morton Downey, the singer. Downey is frequently complimented for his swell column in the Evening Journal and Corum in night clubs is as often asked to chirk the customers with just one of his dulcet ballads. Incidentally Downey has spent most of his professional years in night clubs but has yet to taste an intoxicating drink.

Among the enthusiastic football fan is Bud DeSiva, the song writer. He came all the way from the coast for the all-star professional games in Chicago and New York. Also DeSiva is one transplanted Manhattanite completely sold on California—preferring it to any other spot on the globe. He was born in New York, then taken to the coast and came back to Broadway to triumph with his lyrics.

Add sneeze names: The president of the English club at Hunter college is Eugenia Walczykowska.

A psycho analyst friend chides me for letting down my hair occasionally in this trivia. That is confessing in print that at times a column is arduous or displeasing. He may be right. It is true in many arts. I know at the Palace they forbade acrobats to mop their brows after a difficult feat, say a three high drip. They must come up smiling as if it were nothing at all when muscles were wrenched and tendons aching. The slack wire walker always pretends his trick is easy—for him! And the flying grace with which Alfredo Cordona twirled his triple arms from a trapeze! Each time out was an agonizing strain. If the magician explained his tricks he would lose all respect. Readers, my friend, points out, like to believe writers are inspired and do not want to know that one may walk the floor all night, sweat blood and fear the end has come. Those are secrets preserved for the craft.

Something or other note: George Marshall, who angelled the Roosevelt Raceway, cannot drive an automobile and will not ride in one faster than 35 miles an hour. His eyes are always on the speedometer.

High-brow hilarity: A student of Greek theatrical teams and tropes swings in with some interesting queries with hand-made answers, thus:

Did you ever get one of those girly fan letters where she interjects "ha, ha, ha" occasionally? That is Euphemism.

Did you ever hear a political speaker say "each and every," "might and main" and "one and all"? That is Hendiasis.

Did you ever hear a darkey say "Mis' Smith" for "Mrs. Smith"? That is Apocope.

Did you ever at a play hear "You mean . . ." That is Apopoeisis.

Did you ever hear of "tootsies"? That is Paragoge.

Did you ever make a pun? That would be Paronomasia? (Copyright, 1936)

Bright Moments

Joseph II, emperor of Austria, was on his way to Brest, and stopped at Nantes to see the fine harbor. It was at this time that the colonies were revolting against the English rule, and in the harbor were several ships from the colonies. The new flag, with its 13 stars, was pointed out to the ruler. He turned his head, and remarked to Count Menon, commander of the harbor: "I cannot look at that, for my trade is that of a royalist."

EVERYDAY MOVIES

"Don't get yourself so excited, Henry. Sometimes those politicians exaggerate things."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—Much is being said by both major parties about unemployment relief, but there is one group of unfortunate that has not even been mentioned. They are transient jobless—homeless men, women and children, the real forgotten men—numbering between 200,000 and 300,000.

Until a year ago they were included in the federal relief program, but when the Works Progress administration was set up they were turned back on the states and communities. Most of these units, already overburdened with financial difficulties, set the transients adrift.

During the spring and summer they wandered over the highways eking out an existence in their own mysterious manner. But with winter coming on they are heading south in great numbers.

The southern states can't take care of them, and bluntly don't want them. Reports reaching WPA officials from Florida and other popular winter resorts tell of barriers being put up at county lines to prevent the influx of impoverished transients.

WPA authorities are fully aware of the poignant transient problem, but under the President's work-relief policy have no funds to do anything about it. A large proportion of these wanderers are youths and come within the employable category. But they are unable to get WPA jobs because they have no fixed residence, and local relief officials have more than enough on their hands finding work for their own needy idle.

The U. S. Mayors Conference has had some informal discussions about the matter. It is considering a proposal to ask the next congress to include funds in the 1937 relief appropriation for a revival of the abandoned federal transient aid system.

UNHATCHED CHICKENS At the Sunday afternoon picnic at Hyde Park, following his Mid-Western trip, the President talked to a friend about the administration plans for the future. He spoke with the positiveness of one absolutely confident of re-election.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who was sitting next to him, took no part in the conversation. But after the President had several times used the expression "the future of the country," she broke in quietly:

"But, Franklin, you aren't elected yet."

SQUELCHER Randolph Churchill, son of the arch-Tory ex-chancellor of the British exchequer, covered the President's New England campaign trip for a London newspaper.

The beefy Britisher bombarded the American correspondents with an incessant flow of praise for conditions in England, contending that the English were much wiser and abler in dealing with public problems.

The reporters seethed inwardly as this went on for hours, but out of courtesy to a foreign colleague said nothing openly. But at last one U. S. newsman got contain himself no longer. He broke into one of the Englishman's monologues with the sudden query:

"Say, Church, what is your honest opinion—has the king really fallen for Mrs. Simpson?"

The question went unanswered. Churchill kept his peace for the remainder of the tour.

SUSPICIOUS An official of the Democratic national committee actually tried to anti the Republicans get a top-notch anti-New Deal campaign orator the other day—but the G.O.P. couldn't see him for dust. It happened this way:

Last winter Leon Henderson, research expert of the Democratic national committee, taught a special course in economics at the University of Miami. While at the Florida college he became a warm friend of Prof. John Thomas Holdsworth, although the two men hold diametrically opposite political views.

After Henderson returned to Washington, he and Holdsworth lost touch. Holdsworth was unaware that Henderson had become associated with the Democratic committee.

It was with much amusement, therefore, that Henderson read the following letter from his academic friend:

"I wonder if you could help me contact, somebody at the Republican committee. I have been in touch with the G.O.P. 'brain trust' and was asked to speak for them. But I have heard nothing more and am anxious to make my plans."

Always ready to do a favor for a friend, Henderson called up an acquaintance in the Republican headquarters, told him of Holdsworth's letter and warmly urged his appointment as an effective G.O.P. stumper.

The Republican acquaintance promised to do his best for Holdsworth, but higher-ups turned him down. They were just too suspicious of any recommendation from a Democratic source.

To the Editor: The thunders of war are heard again. The arbitrament of arms and military necessity, deliberate and wanton vandalism, attest of materialism. An age crammed with war is barbarism, heathenism and savagery. The inveterate belligerence of a crushing indictment of the twentieth century, it only serves to inflame murderous thoughts of revenge imbued with the spear of war, the appalling cost of human life, a sin against civilization.

The war makers of Europe have no regard for the neutrality of peace. European war makers are bent on finishing civilization. Civilization is a wounded spirit in the furnace of affliction. War is unconscionably and irredeemably bad.

The Ethiopian and Spanish wars are a disgrace to civilization. The royalists fought in the face of mighty passion and desires in the clutch of agonism.

War is bad, the best. It is a withering, blighting curse, hell and pandemonium.

I am past 91 years of age and know whereof I speak.

GOPHER RELIEF PLANNED

King county gophers, who have been suffering from chills and these chilly autumn mornings, were assured of relief today by Clarence Z. Prunejuice, public-spirited citizen, who has raised a fund to install steam heat in all gopher holes in this locality, at a nominal cost to the gophers.

One Man's Opinion

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Strength Is Not Shown By Volume of Noise

ITALY'S DICTATOR bellows another defiance to the world. He yells to holding out an olive branch "growing from an immense forest of 8,000,000 bayonets, well-sharpened and gripped by young men with intrepid hearts. He almost choked on the self-laudation rumbling from his brazen throat. The vigorous slaps which he gave himself on the back would have staggered a less pompous man. Appealing to ancient glories and that his people are worthy offspring of earth-shaking sires he pointed out that Rome is again rising in imperial majesty. He declares that "Italy offers the world an admirable spectacle of calm and discipline, the Roman civic virtues."

The Latin peoples are good actors. They like the glories and flourish of military parade, the color of uniforms, the blare of martial music. The quick tempo of their blood delights in such spectacles. But the actual achievements from such displays of force fall far short of their pretenses and promises. Both Britain and France discovered the hollowness of Italian military prowess when they leaned too heavily on Italy in the World War. With no greater task than to stop the crumbling Austrian power in the rugged Alpine ranges the vaunted offspring of world conquering Romans threw up the sponge.

Beyond doubt Mussolini is the most dynamic character of our day. And it may be true that 14 years of Fascism have welded Italian military forces into an invincible machine of destruction. But the chances are that its destructiveness is more on the Italian people who must support it than on any other people toward which it may be directed. Like the old-time shotgun which carried a kick more violent than the discharge from its yawning muzzle.

Around and About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

It's not "Town Hall" tonight, but it's Halloween next Saturday night, and the "goblins" will get you if you don't watch out. That's the night when the supernatural steps out for an excursion into the realms of mystery, and if you are at all superstitious it's a good time to remain at home. The custom is probably of Druidic origin, but in America has departed into all sorts of mischievous pranks, at least that was my idea of the occasion, and I left many a wounded picket fence for the neighbor to repair. Sometimes the farmer found his wagon on top of the barn, and that's no place to hitch up a span of horses. Gates were promiscuously distributed over the town—the exchange took place the following morning. Halloween used to be a great event for me, but it was a nightmare to the neighbors. And then we talk about the "kids" of our day going to the devil.

Clyde Newton and Henry Myers of Orange do their Sunday evening shopping in Santa Ana. Met them both last Sunday evening devouring all the bargains in the display windows, but they never tried the front doors. Maybe they were afraid they might get in. Well, bet Sunday visitors than no visit at all. At least Santa Ana merchants have window decorators who are able to attract the attention of visitors.

And remember this: If you make an election bet you better be prepared to pay it.

Chet McDonald of the telephone company had some fellow come down from Los Angeles or some other place to tell a service club that a telephone message around the world in a quarter of a second without the principals getting dizzy when the answer arrived. Gee, guess I'll do all my phoning around the world. I've waited longer than that for a local call, but it wasn't the telephone company's fault. I didn't have to say that but I do have to go to the telephone office to pay my bill.

The blind man is Russell Hardcastle, but he can see how to put up your shades and blinds and draperies. It's a clever advertising contradiction.

Met A. J. Theis a few days ago with a flock of friends whom I suspected of being directors of the Santa Ana-Tustin Mutual Citrus association. This is an obliging sort. When I requested the entire picking force to invade my grove and pick the four boxes of off-blooms he promised to send 'em, but he didn't. I didn't have to say that but I do have to change my mind.

Met a fellow yesterday who is not satisfied with the rainfall. Well, I'm perfectly willing to take his side of the argument, but what good will it do. There isn't any use to complain unless you have a remedy.

Request comes long distance—that is long enough so I can't tell the party what I want to—for the author of the remark: "I wholly disagree with what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it," who some people attribute to Voltaire, and others question. And I am not sure the quotation is perfect, but it set a lot of people to work, and I am still waiting for reports. What's the difference. Some one said it.

One of my few friends absent herself from the accustomed place because two automobiles got together in an unfriendly manner. The compensating part of the accident was the superficial nature of the injuries. So one of these days when the shock has been absorbed and normalcy resumed I'll be able to communicate and ask for the details. And I'll get the low down on who was to blame.

A reminder on the bulletin board in front of Brother Albert Kelly's church last Monday read: "A Christian will vote as he prays." And a hopeful contributor offers a transposition: "A Christian will pray as he votes."

Assessor James Sleeper is my authority for the information that after a tour of Texas, Walter E. Director Byron Curry displayed evidence of a political conversion, and appeared at the session of the board of supervisors wearing a Roosevelt button. Everything was on the up and up until Sleeper offered Bert Casteix as a corroborating witness, and then the light began to sift through the changing scenes. I could see as plainly as if I were present the deputy county coroner surreptitiously pinning a Roosevelt button on Curry's coat and the unsuspecting Republican sailing under an opponent's flag. There is a prevailing opinion that when Curry goes Democratic you can use a pair of skates in Yuma during midsummer. If it were not for a little political jockeying now and then the campaign might get too serious.
